Hope Held For 37 Trapped In Mine

AT MINE BLAST SCENE. A U.S. Steel official questions rescue workers who just arrived above ground after helping with rescue efforts to save 36 miners who are trapped in U.S. Steel's Robena No. 3 mine near Carmichaels, Pa. An explosion Thursday afternoon trapped the miners. (UPI Telephoto)

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP) — Rescue crews were within less than 4,000 feet today of 37 men trapped deep underground by a mine blast.

There has been no contact with them since the explosion at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in the Robena No. 3 mine of U.S. Steel Corp.

Lewis Evans, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, described the situation as "desperate," but held out hope the miners may be alive. "We hope the men built barricades to stop the flow of gas," he said.

Forty-four others working in another section of the pit walked out unhurt. Some returned to search for their colleagues who are 650 feet underground.

Slowed by deadly gas and tons of rubble that left shorings hanging like burnt matches, the rescue crews proceeded cautiously in the tunnel—its concrete walls buckled by the blast.

"Those men are looking into the barrel of a shotgun," said one union official. "With those fires smoldering down there, it could cause another explosion."

But the search goes on. So do the hopes and prayers of wives, brothers, sisters and relatives keeping a vigil in a corrugated metal building adjacent to the mine shaft. Ministers tried to comfort the grieving families.

The blast was the second in the 16-year-history of the Robena mine.

Evans, who is directing the operations, blamed it on a combination of gas and coal dust. He described the blast as one of tremendous nature.

The mine, one of the world's largest soft coal operations, is about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh. It produces coal for U.S. Steel's Clairton (Pa.) Works.

The mine shaft drops straight down 525 feet from the surface. At that point there is a sloping tunnel without branches extending two miles to the working face. The tunnel drops gradually from 525 feet to 650 feet. That's the point where the men are trapped. There is only one exit to the surface.

Mine officials said air coming up from the mine shaft contains large amounts of carbon dioxide, indicating there is fire in the blast area.

The first indication of anything wrong was the reported failure of an electric exhaust fan. It blew out, but was repaired in 10 minutes. Five minutes later it conked out again.

James Girod, an assistant mine superintendent, said the first crews down the shaft detected dust coming from all directions, indicating an explosion or fire.

The major problem for the rescue teams was to pump bad air out and clean air in. Concrete ventilation shafts had buckled under the blast.

The explosion happened on the 55th anniversary of the worst U.S. mine accident on record. On Dec. 6, 1907, a disaster in a mine at Monongah, W. Va., killed 361 persons.

Judge 'Lectures' Hung Jury

New Trial Due Next Year In Embezzlement Case

A retrial is scheduled sometime next year for Roberta C. Smith, former chief clerk of the city water department, whose eight-day trial for embezzlement ended Thursday when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The panel, which apparently split 10 for acquittal and two for conviction, was given a lecture by Judge Joel H. Sharp after he dismissed them yesterday afternoon.

THE JURY of nine women and three men reported at 1:30 p. m. it was deadlocked and could come to no decision.

Deliberations in the case began Wednesday morning at 10:05 after six days of testimony, the appearance of 29 witnesses and 1,058 pages of shorthand notes by the court stenographer.

Miss Smith was indicted for failure to account for $23,841 in city water and sewer funds for the period of May 1959 to November 1961 when a state audit discovered the funds missing.

During the lengthy trial, the 40-year-old defendant declared she had been instructed to "cover up" a $10,900 robbery in the office vault in September 1959 at the direction of Frank Robinson, then superintendent. He retired in 1960 and died in 1961.

PROSECUTOR G. William Brokaw emphasized that had there been a robbery — which he said he doubted — there was still some $12,000 unaccounted for by Miss Smith, who as chief clerk was responsible for the department funds.

There were indications the defendant would seek a change of venue for the next trial due to the publicity connected with the case and possibly due to Judge Sharp's discussion with the excused panel.

The judge yesterday said, "I would like to talk to you about this case now that you have been released."

"You had two questions to decide — did Miss Smith receive the money as chief clerk and did she fail to account for all of it," he went on.

"WHAT SHE did with it or what happened to it was up to her to tell you, not for the state to prove.

"According to my figures, there was about $4,500 which Miss Smith has not accounted for, and that is what you 12 members had to consider."

Judge Sharp apparently figured she had listed the $10,900 burglary, some invoices for 1957-58 included in the audit, along with some other office shortages for which she was not responsible.

Lethal Smog In London Loosens Grip; 106 Dead

LONDON (AP) — The worst smog in a decade loosened its lethal four-day grip on London today, leaving 106 known dead and more than 1,000 in hospitals.

Dense patches persisted in parts of the British capital, but in most places the sun finally seeped wanly through a thin blue haze in mid-morning.

"London is like an oasis, completely ringed by a slowly clearing fog belt," said a spokesman for the British Automobile Association.

Visibility rose to 150 yards at London Airport, and weathermen said it should increase to an operational 2,000 yards later. At midday, not one civil aircraft had been able to get in or out of the airport in 88 hours.

Still fogbound in the Thames Estuary, downriver from London, were more than 170 ships, many carrying Christmas foodstuffs badly needed in the nation's shops.

Commuter trains into London were up to 20 minutes late during the early morning rush hour. Main line trains on longer hauls ran up to 3½ hours behind schedule.

Heavy fog still was reported in the eastern counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, with visibility on the roads averaging 25 yards. Ice on highways in many areas also made driving hazardous.

Hazy sunshine was forecast in most parts of the British Isles until nightfall. The prediction was that frost and fog would return during the night in patches in the southeastern part of the country.

Mild, cloudy weather, with some rain or drizzle, is expected to set in Saturday.

The smog settled in Monday night and eased once for a few hours Thursday. But Thursday night London groaned to a standstill again as the black pall descended.

Except for a few stragglers, all the city's buses returned to their depots by 10:30 p.m., two hours before normal quitting time. Train schedules remained in chaos.

The 88-year-old war leader spent 2½ hours at the Savoy Hotel with friends of the Other Club, an exclusive dining group he helped found 51 years ago. He came out in the murk with a smile and a "V" sign.

Outside London, dozens of automobile accidents occurred on icy roads, and fog still blanketed many parts of the country.

County Courthouse Will Close Saturday

The Columbiana County Courthouse at Lisbon will be closed Saturday, instead of having regular morning hours, because of weather conditions.

Only about a fifth of the Courthouse workers were able to get to work today, and there were very few people entering on business.

Miller Eyes South In GOP All-Out Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller pledged today an all-out GOP campaign in 1964 for Southern electoral votes and congressional seats.

Miller made clear in a report prepared for the opening session of the two-day Republican National Committee meeting that he has no intention of soft-pedaling party efforts in Dixie.

Some Republicans have complained that the segregationist link of several GOP candidates in the South could threaten the Republican position in the big industrial states two years from now.

In reply, Miller said: "Do not be misled or dismayed by those who are trying to give Northern Republicans a guilt complex over our Southern inroads. Our successes in the South need no apology. They are the product of hard and intelligent effort on the part of people dedicated to the Republican principles of freedom and sound government."

Emphasizing a determination to broaden the GOP's "Operation Dixie," Miller said that so far as he is concerned there will be no uncontested congressional races in the South two years from now. Democrats had no GOP opposition in 57 House races in the South in 1962.

He added that, as he views the situation, few of the South's 128 electoral votes can be taken for granted by the Democrats much longer.

Miller seems likely to continue in his job despite some proposals that a full-time, paid chairman be selected.

Northeast Ohio Reels From Storm

By The Associated Press

The worst snowstorm in a dozen years crippled northeastern Ohio today. Up to a foot and a half of snow was on the ground in one area and the U.S. Weather Bureau said no relief was expected before late tonight.

The heavy snow delayed trains and buses, grounded planes, shut down at least 50 factories and closed virtually all schools in a wide area and caused hundreds of accidents.

The storm, moving into northern Ohio late Wednesday afternoon from the south, was powered this morning by winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Temperature hovered near the freezing point.

The depth was not as great as in other snowstorms but the strong, biting winds piled up snow drifts as high as five feet.

Driving — where possible — was a nightmare. Hundreds of cars and trucks stalled, blocking practically all secondary roads. Bottlenecks at some Ohio Turnpike exits backed up traffic for six miles. Most drivers on the 241-mile toll road were not going faster than 20 miles an hour.

There were three storm-connected deaths in the Cleveland area.

Some 30,000 customers of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company were without power, many since Thursday night. Snow-laden lines snapped and others were knocked down by high winds.

A CEI spokesman described the situation in the company's 117-square mile area as "a pretty bad mess." One - hundred and thirty-four extra men were called in to assist 100 men who worked throught the night. Additional crews were summoned from utility companies in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, and Canton.

The snowfall at 9 a. m. measured 18 inches at Novelty in Geauga County, with two to three-foot drifts. Canton - Akron had 10-11 inches and Ashland had 8 to 10 inches, Lorain, 9, and Youngstown 7.

Cleveland Hopkins Airport closed late Thursday night and a spokesman said this morning, "it'll be at least 10 hours before we can begin to open up our runways."

Traffic at the airport halted as drifting snow blocked runways and made roads leading to the field impassable.

As the snow continued to pile up and driving became more hazardous, many companies urged their employes to stay home. This included more than 4,000 at the National Aeronautics Space Administration's huge facility on the West Side.

Thousands Get 'Holiday'

Severe Weather Forces Closing Of Area Schools

Virtually all Tri-State District schools had suspended today in the wake of the severest winter storm in years with snow-clogged roads preventing bus travel and heating of buildings a problem because of the high winds.

Columbiana, Hancock and Beaver County systems with rural bus routes, East Liverpool and Wellsville schools and district buildings in nearby Jefferson County began issuing closing orders Thursday night as the snow continued and the temperature dropped.

THOSE SYSTEMS that had waited until today to decide on whether to try and hold classes quickly canceled after the forecast of more snow and no letup in the stiff wind that would have made heating a problem had they remained in session.

An estimated 25,000 children thus got a one-day holiday, as classes ordinarily would have recessed this afternoon for the weekend.

Midland's remained in session but all buildings were shut in the Columbiana County school districts; East Liverpool public schools and St. Aloysius Parochial School suspended, all in the Hancock system were down and the South Side District near Hookstown closed its high school and elementary buildings.

GEORGE VanHorne, executive head at Beaver Local District, said drifts on secondary and even some main roads forced the decision to cancel classes for the district's 2,350 pupils.

As fast as roads were plowed in many places, the sharp winds filled roads with new drifts, he said.

Southern Local's schools, which have a total attendance of 1,327 pupils, also closed because of the drifted roads.

Chancellor Makes Announcement At Meeting Of Party

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will retire from office next fall, the parliamentary floor leader of his Christian Democratic party announced today.

Heinrich von Brentano said the chancellor, who will be 87 in January, made the announcement at a meeting of party executives Thursday night.

Brentano also told a meeting of the party's members in parliament the party executives had rejected a coalition government with the opposition Socialists. A new coalition with the Conservative Free Democrats, who quit the government over the Spiegel affair several weeks ago, was practically assured.

3 In Rio Raid Get New Date For Hearings

Hearings scheduled Thursday night for a trio arrested in the aftermath of a raid on the Rio Club along Route 30 near Chester were continued for a week.

The defendants are William Watson of Pyramus St., Chester, reputed owner of the gaming casino raided by three Hancock County constables; Margaret Rose Liston of Hookstown R. D. 1, a waitress, and John Rushton of Weirton, described as the club's door guard.

Their hearings are now set for next Thursday night at 7 before Squire Allison.

6 Games Postponed; 3 Scheduled Tonight

At least six high school basketball games in the area have been postponed due to hazardous road conditions.

Three games will be played tonight and they include Ambridge at Midland; Newell at New Cumberland and Perry High at Western Beaver.

Called off were the Lisbon at Wellsville game, Minerva at United, Salineville at Stanton Local, Columbiana at Springfield Local, West Allegheny at South Side and Columbus East at Salem.

The Stanton-Salineville contest has been rescheduled for Dec. 15 while Minerva and United probably will play Tuesday.

Although the game has not been called off, it was doubtful that the North Lima at Leetonia contest would be played.

Ban On Parking Slated For Snow Removal Work

Parking will be banned in the downtown business district and on Mulberry St. after 11 tonight to allow street department crews to remove the high mounds of snow clogging streets near curbs.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen issued the order today as they joined forces to direct the street department in the big job of keeping traffic moving.

The officials did not define the exact boundaries of the downtown area that will be cleared tonight, but they said work will begin in the heart of the business district.

If a parked car blocks the snow removal and there is no other alternative open, it will be ordered towed away, the director said.

Owen requested that merchants clear their sidewalks of snow before the city crews begin their task. The snow will be hoisted onto trucks by highlifts and shovel crews and then hauled away.

Businessmen customarily shove the snow off their sidewalks into the curb area. None should be placed on the streets after the city snow removal crews have passed, businessmen were told.

The city will clear parking places in as wide an area as possible in the work tonight, the mayor and director said. Similar work is scheduled on Mulberry St., heart of the East End business district.

Clear Fire Hydrants, City Firemen Request

If there's a fire hydrant in your neighborhood buried or obscured by snow, shovel it clear so that it can be located quickly in event of a blaze, city firemen requested householders today.

Firemen know the general location of the hydrants, but a brief interval searching for a buried fire plug might mean the difference between small loss and a major fire, they said.

Householders also should check their flues, as heating plants will be working near capacity, they said. If your clothes dryer has an outside vent, you should make certain it is not buried under snow if you intend to operate it, firemen added.

"London is like an oasis, completely ringed by a slowly clearing fog belt," said a spokesman for the British Automobile Association.

Visibility rose to 150 yards at London Airport, and weathermen said it should increase to an operational 2,000 yards later. At midday, not one civil aircraft had been able to get in or out of the airport in 88 hours.

Still fogbound in the Thames Estuary, downriver from London, were more than 170 ships, many carrying Christmas foodstuffs badly needed in the nation's shops.

Commuter trains into London were up to 20 minutes late during the early morning rush hour. Main line trains on longer hauls ran up to 3½ hours behind schedule.

Heavy fog still was reported in the eastern counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, with visibility on the roads averaging 25 yards. Ice on highways in many areas also made driving hazardous.

Hazy sunshine was forecast in most parts of the British Isles until nightfall. The prediction was that frost and fog would return during the night in patches in the southeastern part of the country.

Mild, cloudy weather, with some rain or drizzle, is expected to set in Saturday.

The smog settled in Monday night and eased once for a few hours Thursday. But Thursday night London groaned to a standstill again as the black pall descended.

Except for a few stragglers, all the city's buses returned to their depots by 10:30 p.m., two hours before normal quitting time. Train schedules remained in chaos.

The 88-year-old war leader spent 2½ hours at the Savoy Hotel with friends of the Other Club, an exclusive dining group he helped found 51 years ago. He came out in the murk with a smile and a "V" sign.

Outside London, dozens of automobile accidents occurred on icy roads, and fog still blanketed many parts of the country.

County Courthouse Will Close Saturday

The Columbiana County Courthouse at Lisbon will be closed Saturday, instead of having regular morning hours, because of weather conditions.

Only about a fifth of the Courthouse workers were able to get to go to work today, and there were very few people entering on business.

Miller Eyes South In GOP All-Out Drive

Miller made clear in a report prepared for the opening session of the two-day Republican National Committee meeting that he has no intention of soft-pedaling party efforts in Dixie.

Some Republicans have complained that the segregationist link of several GOP candidates in the South could threaten the Republican position in the big industrial states two years from now.

In reply, Miller said: "Do not be misled or dismayed by those who are trying to give Northern Republicans a guilt complex over our Southern inroads. Our successes in the South need no apology. They are the product of hard and intelligent effort on the part of people dedicated to the Republican principles of freedom and sound government."

Emphasizing a determination to broaden the GOP's "Operation Dixie," Miller said that so far as he is concerned there will be no uncontested congressional races in the South two years from now. Democrats had no GOP opposition in 57 House races in the South in 1962.

He added that, as he views the situation, few of the South's 128 electoral votes can be taken for granted by the Democrats much longer.

Miller seems likely to continue in his job despite some proposals that a full-time, paid chairman be selected.

6 Games Postponed; 3 Scheduled Tonight

At least six high school basketball games in the area have been postponed due to hazardous road conditions.

Three games will be played tonight and they include Ambridge at Midland; Newell at New Cumberland and Perry High at Western Beaver.

Called off were the Lisbon at Wellsville game, Minerva at United, Salineville at Stanton Local, Columbiana at Springfield Local, West Allegheny at South Side and Columbus East at Salem.

The Stanton-Salineville contest has been rescheduled for Dec. 15 while Minerva and United probably will play Tuesday.

Although the game has not been called off, it was doubtful that the North Lima at Leetonia contest would be played.

Ban On Parking Slated For Snow Removal Work

Parking will be banned in the downtown business district and on Mulberry St. after 11 tonight to allow street department crews to remove the high mounds of snow clogging streets near curbs.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen issued the order today as they joined forces to direct the street department in the big job of keeping traffic moving.

The officials did not define the exact boundaries of the downtown area that will be cleared tonight, but they said work will begin in the heart of the business district.

If a parked car blocks the snow removal and there is no other alternative open, it will be ordered towed away, the director said.

Owen requested that merchants clear their sidewalks of snow before the city crews begin their task. The snow will be hoisted onto trucks by highlifts and shovel crews and then hauled away.

Businessmen customarily shove the snow off their sidewalks into the curb area. None should be placed on the streets after the city snow removal crews have passed, businessmen were told.

The city will clear parking places in as wide an area as possible in the short time, the mayor and director said. Similar work is scheduled on Mulberry St., heart of the East End business district.

The mayor and director request-

Heavy Snow Brings Director's Order

Using emergency power granted him by city ordinance, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen today decreed a 90-day halt to ticketing of motorists for parking against the free flow of traffic on hillside streets.

The order means that drivers no longer are required to park headed uphill on steep grades or face the possibility of being ticketed.

The administration has made it a custom to issue such an order with the arrival of the first real snowfall of the season.

A city ordinance allows the director to make changes in traffic

County Roads Drifted Shut In Stretches

The worst storm in several years was compounded by the high winds that caused drifts 4 to 5 feet deep on sections of many main roads, and sub-freezing temperatures that glazed those stretches that were free of snow.

Trucks and cars stalled in deep drifts Thursday night and many were abandoned, preventing road plows from opening lanes for traffic.

Highway crews, already weary from continuous cindering and plows from opening lanes for traf-storm first swept into the Ohio Valley Wednesday night, made little headway Thursday night as the winds caused new drifting each time a section was cleared.

Gaylord Zellers, former Columbiana County superintendent for the Ohio Highway Department and now Division 11 superintendent, said "we will not make much headway until the wind dies down." The Ohio weatherman said the winds will start diminishing tonight.

Zellers, who spent the night at the Leetonia headquarters where he previously was stationed, said all 15 trucks of the county unit worked throughout the night and remained on the job this morning.

He said two of the trucks equipped with plows became stuck when they moved off the berm to pass abandoned vehicles and ended up in deeper snow.

All road equipment of the Columbiana County Highway Department was out in force today, but crews were unable to keep many roads open because of severe drifting, John (Dick) Neill, supervisor, said.

All county roads remained covered and heavily drifted in places, and a number were impassable he said, urging that travel be kept to a minimum.

"A lot of autos are getting stuck, and this slows the road crews," he said, asking that people who do not have to travel "stay home."

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said there were a number of traffic tieups on snow-slick hills, such as Route 7 at Rogers, officers said.

The patrol, beset by many telephone calls about road conditions, was discouraging all motorists from traveling today or tonight.

Officers, receiving reports from patrol cruisers checking roads throughout the county, said the northern part of the county seemed to have been hit harder than that south of Lisbon.

Route 30 between Lisbon and East Liverpool was passable but "treacherous" the patrol said, but west of Lisbon Route 30 was threatened by heavy drifts.

Traffic throughout the county was sparse and traveling slowly.

Only one minor mishap had been reported after midnight — a truck ramming a guardrail on Route 14 near the Pennsylvania line — the patrol said.

The winds, estimated at times at 30 to 35 mph., with gusts of over 40-mile velocity, swept salt and cinders from icy stretches almost as soon as it was spread.

Sections of principal state routes in the county remained closed, either because of drifts or where vehicles had stalled in deep snow.

These included the Rogers Hill on Route 7, most of Route 172 from Moultrie Chapel to the Stark County line, Route 558 from East Fairfield to Salem, Route 517 from Lisbon to East Fairfield, Route 9 from Hanoverton to Salem, Route 62 north of Salem and Route 164 south of Columbiana.

Zellers said he knew of no hardship cases among the stalled motorists. In several instances, drivers got out of their cars and plodded to their destinations.

The storm that lashed Northern Ohio and Great Lakes states, first produced 5 inches of snow Wednesday night. It was light Thursday but grew in intensity last night as the severe winds arrived, creating blizzard conditions at times.

Icing began to develop on the highways as the temperature fell below freezing then tumbled into the lower 20's during the night.

There was 3 to 4 more inches of snow last night, raising the accumulation to 9 inches, and the forecast is for an additional accumulation of 2 to 5 inches today. The highway garage said it expected 4 to 5 inches. The Millport weather station had 11 inches.

Crews have been working around-the-clock since Wednesday night clearing snow from highways in Hancock County, but "it looks as if we're fighting a losing battle," Julian Wilson, supervisor of the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission said.

Wilson said 23 pieces of equipment are in use — snow plows, graders, ash trucks and salt trucks — and are concentrating their efforts of keeping open the primary highways, Route 30, State Routes 2 and 66, and Route 22 and Alternate Route 22. All are open but Wilson advised motorists to use chains.

The secondary roads in the county remain choked with high drifts, Wilson said.

There were frequent traffic snarls Thursday night on Route 22 near Weirton, where a few trucks jackknifed on the slippery surface.

A full crew of 200 men worked throughout the night out of the Beaver County Division of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department.

Drifts posed the major problem. The crews are concentrating on maintaining traffic on the main thoroughfares. One-way travel is being kept open on other arteries.

Only emergency calls were being handled this morning from rural and secondary roads.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol reported many secondary roads in the countryside are closed by snow drifts. Some stretches of State Route 213 are also drifted badly, officers said. Route 7 north of Steubenville is open but slippery. The patrol had reports of two traffic accidents blamed on the weather.

Half of the 200-man crew was sent home this morning to get four hours' sleep while the others remained on the job. When the first shift returns to work, the other 100 men will be sent home to rest for four hours. In that way, a full 200-man crew will be on the job again tonight.

The office at Rochester said heavy snow continued this morning, creating new problems with drifting.

State Police barracks throughout Western Pennsylvania termed highway conditions "very bad." Officers advised travel only when absolutely essential. Many secondary rural roads were reported clogged with drifts.

With the winds not expected to abate until tonight, there will be more drifting. The cold, in sharp contrast to the Indian Summer that lasted 10 days and ended so suddenly, will continue Saturday after tonight's sub-freezing range of 22 to 28 degrees. The downtown had a low of 24 this morning.

The Ohio Valley has had deeper snows than at present, but the current storm was more sudden and was accompanied by most severe winds.

The "Big Snow" of 1950 was the district's major storm with 36 inches in as many hours. Snow flurries will continue tomorrow.

The high winds and the wet, heavy snow caused isolated cases of trouble for both the Ohio Power Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Approximately 35 homes in the Summitville area were without electric service for an hour and a quarter last night after two wires rubbed together in the high wind and caused an outage. The utility said the trouble developed at 5:25 and was repaired by 6:40.

The electric company reported a few other isolated instances of line trouble, but no major breaks.

About 100 homes in East Liverpool were without telephone service as a result of individual lines affected by wind or snow. The telephone company halted all installation work today and assigned every man to repairing the storm damage. It said virtually all the lines will be back in service today.

A toll cable between Salineville and East Liverpool was disrupted partially yesterday, apparently as a result of high winds, but most of the repair work is completed today. Repair crews experienced difficulty getting to Salineville today to complete the work because of drift-blocked rural roads.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. said it experienced no difficulty because of the storm and its backlog of fuel is more than adequate for the cold snap.

Pope Leaves Apartment First Time Since Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII left his apartment today for the first time since he became ill 10 days ago and prayed with the Vatican Ecumenical Council in St. Peter's.

Soon after he returned to his apartment, Vatican officials announced that the pontiff would participate in ceremonies Saturday closing the first phase of the council, and also in canonizaton rituals on Sunday for three new Roman Catholic saints.

In a speech in Latin he thanked the prelates for their work and their charity toward each other despite differences in their debates and asked them to carry his blessing back to their people. He did not mention his own health.

He waved repeatedly to non-Catholic observers sitting in a special section to one side of his throne.

Vatican sources said the Pope also celebrated Mass this morning in his private chapel and then worked a considerable time with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state.

But the Vatican indicated the Pope has not fully recovered after being bed-ridden with serious anemia provoked by stomach disorder.

Officials said his participation in the weekend ceremonies would be limited. He plans to attend the closing council session only long enough to make a speech.

And instead of participating in the full three-hour canonization ceremony Sunday, as he has in the past, officials said the Pope would be present for only about 30 minutes, long enough to proclaim the three saints.

The three being elevated to sainthood are the blesseds Pierre Julien Eymard, Antonio Maria Pucci and Francesco Maria de Camporosso. Eymard was French-born. The others were Italian-born.

ia gaming and liquor laws and another alleging "hindering and obstructing" Constable J. Carl Durham of Newell in the lawful discharge of his duties.

Durham was one of the raiding party that also included Constable Harold Davis of Chester and Constable Sam Swain of New Cumberland. The charge of "hindering and obstructing" Constable Durham in the performance of his duties apparently stems from a struggle between the law officer and Watson while the raid was in progress, although the actual search and seizure warrants were in the possession of Constable Davis.

The bonds posted by the defendants — $3,550 by Watson, $50 by the waitress and $100 by Rushton — were continued for a week. The waitress is charged with selling non-intoxicating beer without a license at the Rio Club, and Rushton is charged with being employed as a doorman where gaming devices are exhibited and interfering with an officer.

and parking regulations for periods up to 90 days.

In normal weather, motorists are required to park in such a way that their auto is headed in the same direction as traffic moves in the adjoining lane. Because the ordinance works a hardship in snowy weather on persons who reside on grades, the administration makes it a practice to suspend the law in the winter time.

Can They Get Stevenson

It is always interesting, though sometimes frightening when a public official is eased out of a high position by the leverage of bad publicity.

The country may be about to see it happen to Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. representative at the United Nations.

A magazine article by two reporters, one a close friend of President Kennedy, has made it appear that in the breathless discussion leading up to the U.S. ultimatum to the Soviet Union to disband its offensive striking power in Cuba, Ambassador Stevenson lagged behind on grasping the nettle.

This has been denied by Ambassador Stevenson and Pierre Salinger, speaking for the White House. But the story will be hard to put down because of the friendship between the reporter and the President.

Could this be happening to the man the late Eleanor Roosevelt thought should have been nominated in 1960—the only threat to the Kennedy nomination landslide in the 1961 Democratic convention, when a popular demonstration was organized for him?

Could it be happening to the man whose record as U.N. spokesman reflects undeviating opposition to the Soviet Union—the man who warned publicly that economic blockade might drive Cuba into Russia's arms?

Could it be happening to the man who was apologized to a year ago by retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet after he had criticized him for his role in the abortive Cuban invasion? Gen. Van Fleet admitted he had been wrong about his information, and that was the end of another accusation.

It's always interesting to see how these things turn out, especially if the intended victim comes out on top.

Second-Guessing With Malice

There is a school of second-guessing whose disciples talk like this:

Events after the end of World War II didn't pan out the way they should have because the Soviet Union became obstreperous, therefore the United States never should have allied itself with the Russians; it should have joined Hitler and his bully-boys instead, because they were trying to beat the Russians in the first place;

Or, events after the attack by Britain, France and Israel on Egypt at the height of the Suez fracas have been a headache for the Western Powers, with Arab nationalism getting out of hand, including Algeria, therefore it would have been better if the Suez adventure had been condoned by the United Nations, because it would have cooled off Arab nationalism;

Or, events after the Korean War proved the United Nations and the United States gained nothing except uneasy maintenance of the ante bellum status quo, therefore it would have been better if communists had been given a free rein in Korea unless the United States was willing to go all-out in a major war to overcome Red China;

Or, events in Cuba after the corrupt Batista regime had opened the way for Castro's revolution have proved Castro is no better than Batista, who was a staunch anticommunist whereas Castro is a communist, therefore the United States should have underwritten Batista's shabby government because it wouldn't have to worry now about Castro;

Or, events in the Confederate states since the Civil War have revealed that the issues of that war never were settled and the 14th amendment to the Constitution wasn't ratified to suit Southerners who are still waving Confederate flags and standing up for states' rights, therefore it would have been better if Abraham Lincoln hadn't saved the Union. Many Southerners talk as if they believed this.

Sen. Ellender Isn't Worried

Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana is said to have an ambition to visit every country on earth. The ambition is admirable.

But in achieving it he has bumped into a problem of deep concern to everybody but him. As a segregationist at home and a critic of conditions abroad in countries dominated by Negroes he has hurt his welcome.

Uganda and Tanganyika have refused to let him leave his airplane. The idea may catch on. Other countries, taking note of one slur in particular, in which the Louisianan said he had seen no evidence anywhere in Africa that Negroes could govern themselves may refuse to take responsibility for his safety.

U.S. foreign aid may be jeopardized by this censure, but Sen. Ellender is in more danger of hurting his own country than their wounded pride can hurt the chances of underdeveloped countries to get U.S. aid.

He is an official representative of the United States on a senatorial junket.

The State Department can insist to the last breath that he speaks only for himself. But an American senator who travels abroad speaks for his country.

In a world where whites are a small minority, Sen. Ellender has behaved as if this were the era of Rudyard Kipling and the white man's burden.

All of which doesn't worry Sen. Ellender, but it worries everybody else. When a U.S. senator spends public funds on a junket, he owes it to his fellow citizens to keep his Deep South prejudices buttoned up as tight as his personal purse.

Winter Exercise

By Truman Twill

As the philosophers say about death — that it must come to all men — snow must come too, in the snow belt.

It is worst at the beginning. Later, all knowlegeable drivers get the hang of winter driving conditions and settle down.

Make no mistake about it; this is all there is to winter hardship any more — driving a car. All other problems have vanished with pioneer living.

Children no longer worry about drying out high-top shoes before morning and bending them into wearable shape after innumerable overnight bakings on top of registers and in ovens.

Neither children nor adults have to adjust themselves to armored underwear stiff as a board after being dried outside in sub-freezing temperatures and brought inside the night before. These garments sometimes had to be thumped with a stick before they could be worn, especially the legs.

Every family needed an Eagle Scout to keep the home fires burning. Naturally, this turned out to be the head squaw. Pie and cake like Mother used to make is an overworked slogan about an overestimated skill. But fires like Mother used to build are hard to find.

Featherbeds have been outlawed. It used to work like this: You tiptoed into a frigid bedroom, peeled down the featherbed, punched a hole in the center, took a deep breath and squirmed in. The principle of the featherbed was engulfment; it closed in like a heavy bug sinking in meringue.

Getting out the next morning was so difficult the featherbeds had to be outlawed, because nobody was getting anything done until driven into the cold by hunger or that other dire necessity which separated the men from the boys and the women from the girls in the pre-central-heat, pre-auto days.

The line is drawn now when winter comes between those with the knack of driving in snow and those as baffled by it as psychopaths are baffled by the other challenges of this era.

Those who can't adjust themselves to their environment lean on the rest of us. As far as they're concerned, there's no limit to our ability to shovel snow and shove cars.

Like this lady I go snowshoeing with . . . .
She is the world's best fair-weather driver. But sprinkle a few inches of snow on the ground and she comes unstuck. Rather, she comes stuck.

She came stuck the first time it snowed before her favorite shoveler, manipulator and shover was through shaving.

There was nothing about her plight that moving two tons of snow and exerting a modicum of skill in the application of basic principals of friction-induced motion couldn't fix There never is.

Here it is again — winter.

I used to claim the only exercise I got was being a pall-bearer for friends who took too much exercise. As amended, the statement now states that all my winter exercise comes from trying to get shaved before that first call for help.

This and That

Tradition has it that Frankfurt-On-Main, Germany, was the birthplace of the hot dog. However, this is disputed by some, who claim that this sausage variety was originated in the late 1600's by a butcher named Johann Georg Lahmer, who lived in Coburg, in central Germany. They maintain that Frankfurt is credited with the origin of the hot dog because Lahmer in later years promoted his new product among the butchers in that city.

Mr. American Citizen is playing the stock market every month with his friends and neighbors — and with better luck than the experts. Amateur investment clubs during the past year had an average yearly appreciation of more than 17 per cent, which was about 4.25 better than the "expert" industrial average, and far better than most mutual funds.

The costliest fire in U. S. history, so far as lives lost, occurred in the area of Peshtigo, Wisconsin, on Oct. 8, 1871. Spreading over 1,280,000 acres of forestland, this fire wiped out 17 towns and took at least 1,152 lives.

The Apostle Islands, located in Lake Superior, out from Bayfield, Wisconsin, were named by early missionaries. They include 22 islands, and vary in size from a mere dot on the blue to 14,000 acres. Some of them are still in natural state, inhabited only by wildlife.

The word "blurb" is a coined one and generally is applied to all the complimentary comments that a publisher assembles on the jacket of a book.

U Thant Sees Cuba As 'Compromise'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, has just made a remarkable speech full of news that has heretofore been withheld from the world, including the American people.

David Lawrence

The secretary general announced that the Cuban situation was recently the subject of a "compromise," and he defined this as the type of negotiation which is characterized by "the principle of give and take."

What did America give and what did it take? What did the Soviet Union give and what did it take? The answers have not yet been officially revealed.

The American people will be surprised at U Thant's statement. They have hitherto been led to believe that President Kennedy won a big victory and that Premier Khrushchev suffered a severe defeat. What does the secretary general know that has not been disclosed by the White House or the Department of State?

In these days of "manipulated" news — when the idea of deliberately misleading the people is defended as part of the "arsenal of weaponry" — it will take a congressional investigation to find out what really happened.

IT MAY BE that Congress will muzzle itself, too. Already there are rumors that the Democrats, who were so quick to start an inquiry by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to find out about the U2 incident in 1960 during the Eisenhower administration, now are unwilling to find out why it is necessary for the U2s to continue flying over Cuba and what the administration may have given away.

The present status of the Cuban affair is not clear. President Kennedy in his statement to the American people on Nov. 20 said that the missile bases were being dismantled and that the Soviet government had stated that "no offensive weapons will be reintroduced." The President added:

"Nevertheless, important parts of the understanding of Oct. 27-28 remain to be carried out. The Cuban government has not yet permitted the United Nations to verify whether all offensive weapons have been removed, and no lasting safeguards have yet been established against the future introduction of offensive weapons back into Cuba."

Meanwhile, the United States has demobilized its military forces which were assembled in the southeastern part of the United States, and the "quarantine" or blockade has been abandoned.

It isn't known exactly what else the United States has promised to do. There was an intimation that this country would not engage in any "invasion" of Cuba. Whether the noninvasion offer is now in effect or whether it can be regarded as having been negated by the failure to obtain verification by the U.N. of the dismantling of the missile sites in Cuba has not been clarified. Certainly in the Nov. 20 statement Mr. Kennedy said flatly that the United States wouldn't "abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba," but he added that "these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

ANASTAS MIKOYAN, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, recently went to Cuba presumably to argue for international inspection and verification, but he claims he was unsuccessful. So he turns the task over to the delegations from the United States and the Soviet Union who are stationed in New York City at the United Nations.

The United Press International in a dispatch, under a United Nations date line, on Monday of this week said:

"U.S. and Soviet diplomats discussed the Cuban situation for almost six hours today but there was no change in their positions."

What is there to discuss and agree upon if the situation has already been settled by a "compromise"? Is Mr. Kennedy's pledge of "no invasion" in effect today? Is Russia afraid to let Cuba approve on-site isspection because it may have a bearing on the same principle now being debated with respect to future disarmament agreements? The Soviets, of course, don't like inspection.

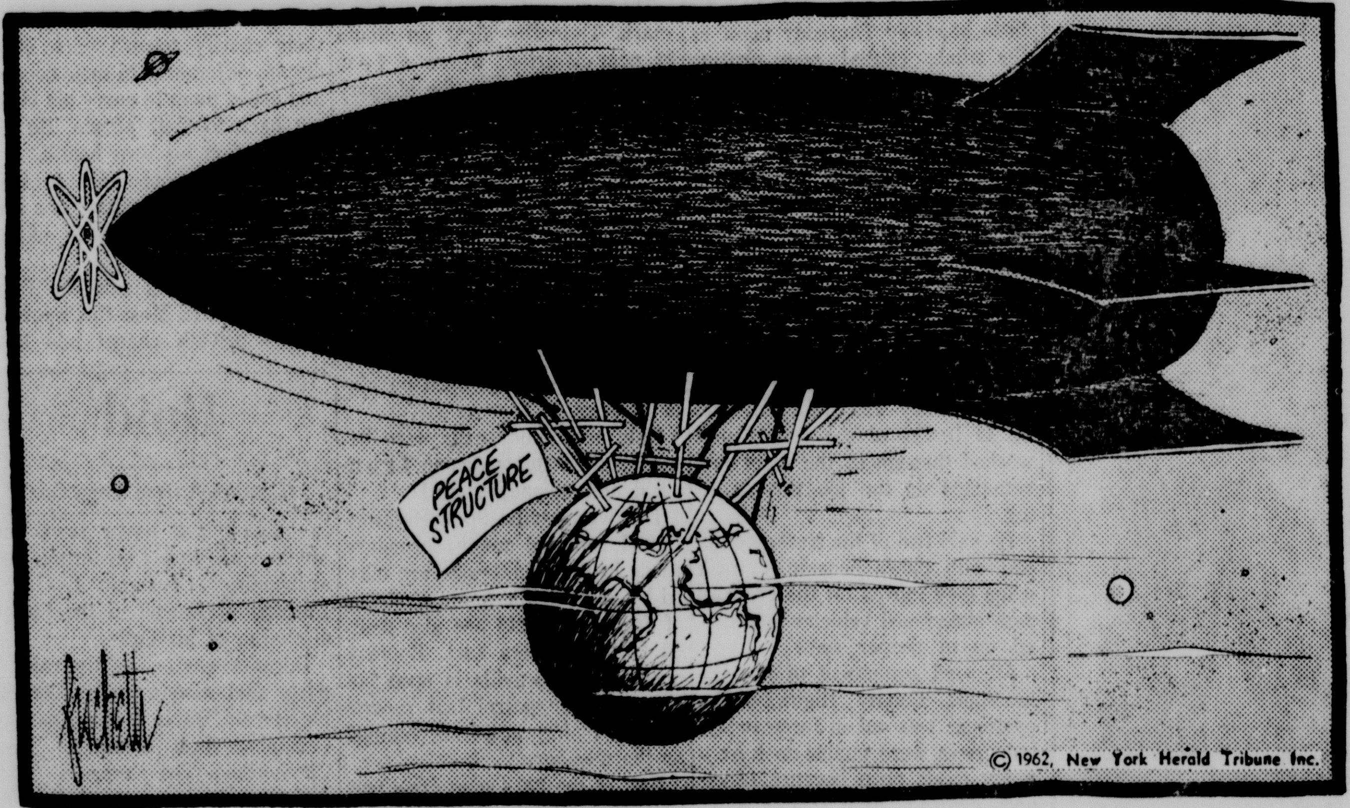
Meanwhile, another UPI dispatch, under a Warsaw dateline, on Monday may be revealing. It said:

"Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka tonight called on the United States to confirm its nonaggression pledge to Cuba before the United Nations. In a 65-minute speech . . . Gomulka said the Soviet Union had acted 'exclusively in the interests of peace both when installing rockets and in removing them from Cuba.'

He said if the missile bases had not been set up, Cuba now would face a bloody intervention, 'but the withdrawal of the missiles and the decision to drop the idea of a Cuban invasion by the U.S.A. was the expression of a compromise in the frames of peaceful coexistence.' "

SO IT IS EVIDENT the Soviets feel they have obtained—and now wish to have confirmed—a pledge that there will be no military interference with the Communist base in Cuba and that what the Soviets are doing there will be overlooked by the United States even though this is a flagrant violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

The willingness of the United States to give up the principles of the Monroe Doctrine in exchange from the withdrawal of a missile threat is evidently the "compromise" which the Soviets feel they have achieved. But there is no certainty that all weapons capable of being used for offensive purposes have been removed or that the Soviets will ever stop launching from Cuba subversive activities aimed at other countries in this hemisphere.



The Best That Human Minds Can Devise

U.S. Reds Press For Labor Agitation

By VICTOR RIESEL

There is an active lawyer whose office is in New York's financial district, whose home is in one of New York's fashionable areas, and who flies to Chicago frequently from his home city. He is an American Communist of such influence that few Soviet celebrations there are without him. Yet he is known in this activity only to the inner party circle and to the heads of U.S.S.R. missions and, of course, to our internal security forces.

Victor Riesel

His name, beginning with the letter N, has not been published in association with Communist activity. He came close to such publicity, however, when he slipped quietly in and out of the Soviet's U.N. Mission Party, given in celebration of the Russian Revolution's 45th anniversary.

NOT ALL members of this Communist group—one of the smallest of the 90 Communist parties across the world — are as active or as frequently under assignment. But enough of them are that the party, it seems to me, should be of sharp concern.

The labor movement and its leaders, for example, should be especially concerned at this time.

The party has a technique of directing its members without cloak and dagger instructions written to them on onionskin paper in invisible ink. A favorite method of passing on a new line and new strategy is to distribute a "paper" for "discussion."

One such paper is now being circulated by party leaders, reflecting what they in turn got from special Soviet sources they must consult regularly. This "paper" outlines the Communist party's new policies on labor.

The carefully guarded document, when one rips through its sectarian semantics, calls for the creation of a new political party; for the organization of special groups among the unemployed; also for an outcry for nationalization of factories not in full production and for a $110-a-week minimum wage.

THE COMMUNIST document on labor policy says specifically that the time has come for its people inside unions, or those who have any influence on them from the outside, to agitate for the new political party by urging independent political action by trade unions.

Labor is urged to unite in a political alliance "with other progressive, democratic forces, minorities, small farmers, the mushrooming peace movement." This is advocated in order to form an "antimonopoly peoples' coalition party."

In the first seven, there is, in Aesopian language, a directive to get into stoppages and attempt to whip them up with "a higher level of solidarity in strikes and struggles of all workers, including the unemployed."

"Significant, too, is the following objective:

"An organized, united struggle against 'international runaways,' based on international solidarity and cooperation between the trade union movements of all countries."

There is also a demand for higher taxes on profits made by American firms abroad.

THIS IS AIMED at discouraging, by strikes on the home front if necessary, the efforts of American firms to capture some of the foreign market by building plants abroad. At the same time, U.S. firms operating abroad, will be hit by costly wildcat strikes such as have affected Ford in England.

The purpose, of course, is to prevent the export of U.S. know-how, the building of a prosperous Europe and the closing of markets to Soviet products.

Among the document's nine immediate demands is one for a vigorous political drive for public ownership of U.S. industries receiving government subsidies here at home. By "subsidies" the Communists mean federal orders of any kind. This is also an effort to nationalize transportation facilities.

THE PARTY also wants a government-labor-consumer board a have price control powers. Also a cutback in prices.

There is a call for the 1930s type of federal public works projects for youth and the unemployed. It was such projects which the party infiltrated so heavily more than 25 years ago.

There also is a demand for the end of arbitration during labor crises.

There is more. But the pattern is obvious.

The American Communist party is lining up its people and its fellow travelers for a drive to revive the days of the 30s. Out of such turbulence they hope to recoup their old strength.

Changes In 21 Years

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

What has changed since Pearl Harbor, 21 years ago today, the length of time in which a human being is supposed to come to maturity?

In those 21 years man has had some moments of isolated splendor.

He shook the pull of earth and soared into space. He stood on the threshold of the unknown: a journey to the moon. He made great progress against forces that shorten his life, like disease.

Yet, his life became more uncertain than ever.

His primitive inability to work out reasonably a peaceful existence on this limited earth didn't improve. His deep hostilities toward his neighbor haven't changed. They just took new directions.

These have been a distressed, distracted, groping 21 years.

They have been so full of talk of war, fear of war and war itself, of invasions, killings, tyrannies, treacheries and assassinations man seemed to learn nothing from the massacres that ended temporarily in 1945.

The examples come to mind easily enough: war in Korea, China, India, Viet Nam, Laos, North Africa, the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt, the assassinations in Algeria, revolutions in Asia and Latin America, the slaughter in the Congo, Moslem-Hindu bloodbaths, the American-Russian missile crisis in Cuba.

To us, involved in the daily doings, this may have seemed like a time of motion.

But historians, looking back 500 years from now, may conclude the only real change in these 21 years in man's dealing with man was his discovery of how better to make war worse.

World War II produced rockets and atomic bombs. All man had to do then was learn how to attach the bombs to the rockets. He learned easily and made previous wars look old-fashioned and humane.

While this had a frightening effect on man for obvious reasons—the more the number of nations with the bomb, the less everybody's life-expectancy—it didn't deter him a moment.

He went on making bigger bombs as if hypnotized by fright into thinking that if he frightened himself enough he'd become too frightened to use what frightened him.

To future generations, if there are any, this may look like simple jungle witchcraft, especially since man is now so deep in his own atomic trance he has been unable to come out of it.

But to mankind today it all seems so normal and practical that he is pouring into bombs he hopes he never uses vast resources and treasure which, if employed for the good of mankind, could make life better and richer.

Historians may decide World War II didn't change things basically but only rearranged them in a way just as grisly.

By eliminating Nazism-Fascism as a third and ambitious world force, it quickened the inevitable confrontation between the western and Communist concept of life and progress.

The war didn't lessen this problem. It intensified it. Communism, which was limited to Russia and felt held within its borders, expanded jubilantly after the war in Europe and Asia.

As part of the rearrangements of World War II, old enemies became new allies, old allies became new enemies.

The deep roots of ancient agonies remain as fresh as ever racial and religious hate, national cupidities, enormous chasms between rich and poor around the world, intolerance, and even new nationalisms.

Perhaps in time, around the world, man, out of need and fear, will choose to live peacefully for reasons of common sense. He has not shown much of it in the past 21 years.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A new men's Bible Class of the Second United Presbyterian Church was organized with Earl Leper as president.

The Stagg Hi-Y Club, comprised of 54 members of the junior class of East Liverpool High School, was officially inducted into the National Association of Hi-Y Clubs.

TWENTY YEARS AGO— More than $500 worth of war bonds and insurance policies, stolen from a Midiand Heights home in August, was found, four months later, in a roadside ditch on Anderson Blvd., near Beechwood.

The 36th anniversary of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church was observed with special services.

Sidney C. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Porter, was awarded a football letter by the Peddie School of Highstown, N.J.

TEN YEARS AGO — Lawrence Beck, director of music at East Liverpool High School, and John Weitzel, supervisor of instrumental music, attended the convention of Ohio Music Education at Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Altman of W. 4th St. attended a session of the National Conference of Jewish leaders in New York.

They maintain that Frankfurt is credited with the origin of the hot dog because Lahmer in later years promoted his new product among the butchers in that city.

Mr. American Citizen is playing the stock market every month with his friends and neighbors — and with better luck than the experts. Amateur investment clubs during the past year had an average yearly appreciation of more than 17 per cent, which was about 4.25 better than the "expert" industrial average, and far better than most mutual funds.

The costliest fire in U. S. history, so far as lives lost, occurred in the area of Peshtigo, Wisconsin, on Oct. 8, 1871. Spreading over 1,280,000 acres of forestland, this fire wiped out 17 towns and took at least 1,152 lives.

The Apostle Islands, located in Lake Superior, out from Bayfield, Wisconsin, were named by early missionaries. They include 22 islands, and vary in size from a mere dot on the blue to 14,000 acres. Some of them are still in natural state, inhabited only by wildlife.

The word "blurb" is a coined one and generally is applied to all the complimentary comments that a publisher assembles on the jacket of a book.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

David Lawrence

U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, has just made a remarkable speech full of news that has heretofore been withheld from the world, including the American people.

The secretary general announced that the Cuban situation was recently the subject of a "compromise," and he defined this as the type of negotiation which is characterized by "the principle of give and take."

What did America give and what did it take? What did the Soviet Union give and what did it take? The answers have not yet been officially revealed.

The American people will be surprised at U Thant's statement. They have hitherto been led to believe that President Kennedy won a big victory and that Premier Khrushchev suffered a severe defeat. What does the secretary general know that has not been disclosed by the White House or the Department of State?

In these days of "manipulated" news — when the idea of deliberately misleading the people is defended as part of the "arsenal of weaponry" — it will take a congressional investigation to find out what really happened.

IT MAY BE that Congress will muzzle itself, too. Already there are rumors that the Democrats, who were so quick to start an inquiry by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to find out about the U2 incident in 1960 during the Eisenhower administration, now are unwilling to find out why it is necessary for the U2s to continue flying over Cuba and what the administration may have given away.

The present status of the Cuban affair is not clear. President Kennedy in his statement to the American people on Nov. 20 said that the missile bases were being dismantled and that the Soviet government had stated that "no offensive weapons will be reintroduced." The President added:

"Nevertheless, important parts of the understanding of Oct. 27-28 remain to be carried out. The Cuban government has not yet permitted the United Nations to verify whether all offensive weapons have been removed, and no lasting safeguards have yet been established against the future introduction of offensive weapons back into Cuba."

Meanwhile, the United States has demobilized its military forces which were assembled in the southeastern part of the United States, and the "quarantine" or blockade has been abandoned.

It isn't known exactly what else the United States has promised to do. There was an intimation that this country would not engage in any "invasion" of Cuba. Whether the noninvasion offer is now in effect or whether it can be regarded as having been negated by the failure to obtain verification by the U.N. of the dismantling of the missile sites in Cuba has not been clarified. Certainly in the Nov. 20 statement Mr. Kennedy said flatly that the United States wouldn't "abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba," but he added that "these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

ANASTAS MIKOYAN, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, recently went to Cuba presumably to argue for international inspection and verification, but he claims he was unsuccessful. So he turns the task over to the delegations from the United States and the Soviet Union who are stationed in New York City at the United Nations.

The United Press International in a dispatch, under a United Nations date line, on Monday of this week said:

"U.S. and Soviet diplomats discussed the Cuban situation for almost six hours today but there was no change in their positions."

What is there to discuss and agree upon if the situation has already been settled by a "compromise"? Is Mr. Kennedy's pledge of "no invasion" in effect today? Is Russia afraid to let Cuba approve on-site isspection because it may have a bearing on the same principle now being debated with respect to future disarmament agreements? The Soviets, of course, don't like inspection.

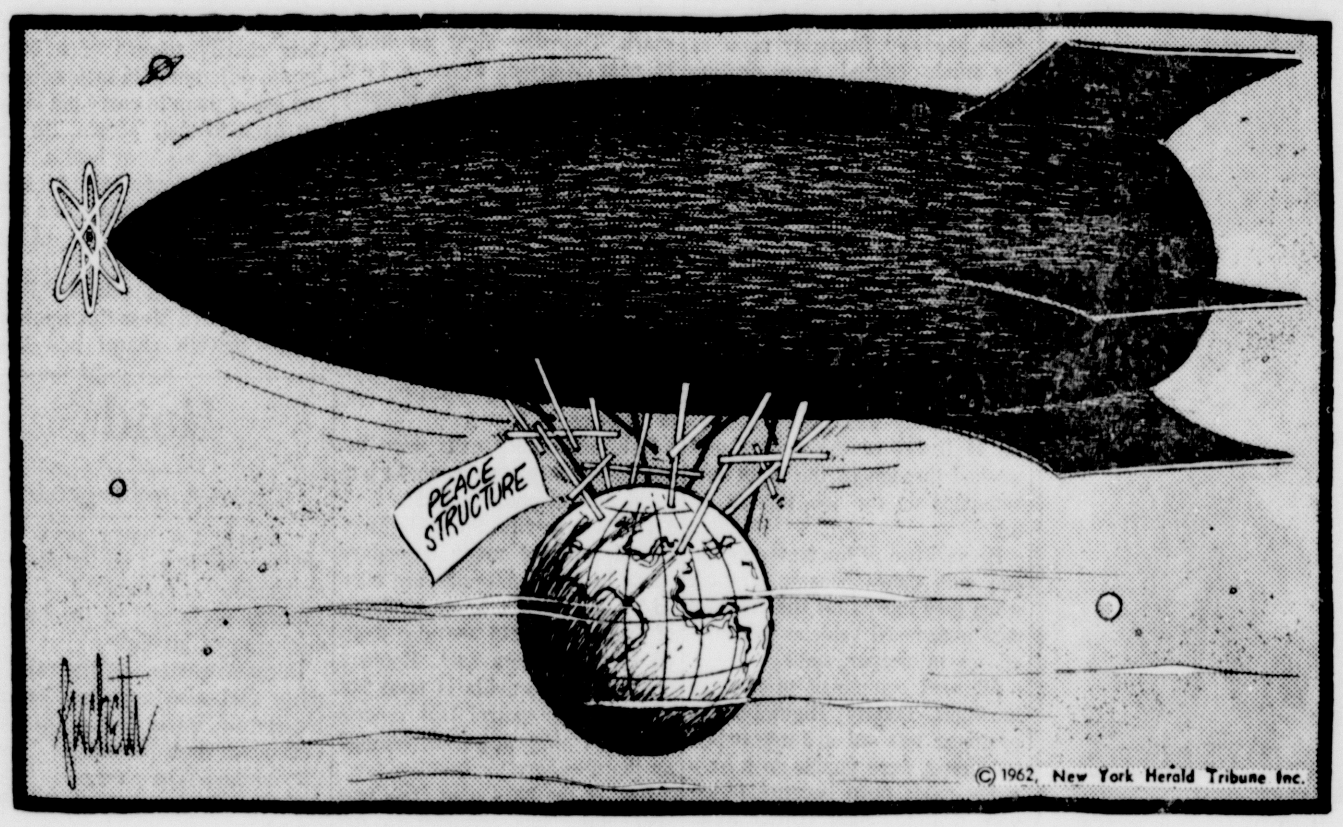
Meanwhile, another UPI dispatch, under a Warsaw dateline, on Monday may be revealing. It said:

"Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka tonight called on the United States to confirm its nonaggression pledge to Cuba before the United Nations. In a 65-minute speech . . . Gomulka said the Soviet Union had acted 'exclusively in the interests of peace both when installing rockets and in removing them from Cuba.'

He said if the missile bases had not been set up, Cuba now would face a bloody intervention, 'but the withdrawal of the missiles and the decision to drop the idea of a Cuban invasion by the U.S.A. was the expression of a compromise in the frames of peaceful coexistence.' "

SO IT IS EVIDENT the Soviets feel they have obtained—and now wish to have confirmed—a pledge that there will be no military interference with the Communist base in Cuba and that what the Soviets are doing there will be overlooked by the United States even though this is a flagrant violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

The willingness of the United States to give up the principles of the Monroe Doctrine in exchange from the withdrawal of a missile threat is evidently the "compromise" which the Soviets feel they have achieved. But there is no certainty that all weapons capable of being used for offensive purposes have been removed or that the Soviets will ever stop launching from Cuba subversive activities aimed at other countries in this hemisphere.



The Best That Human Minds Can Devise

U.S. Reds Press For Labor Agitation

By VICTOR RIESEL

Victor Riesel

There is an active lawyer whose office is in New York's financial district, whose home is in one of New York's fashionable areas, and who flies to Chicago frequently from his home city. He is an American Communist of such influence that few Soviet celebrations there are without him. Yet he is known in this activity only to the inner party circle and to the heads of U.S.S.R. missions and, of course, to our internal security forces.

His name, beginning with the letter N, has not been published in association with Communist activity. He came close to such publicity, however, when he slipped quietly in and out of the Soviet's U.N. Mission Party, given in celebration of the Russian Revolution's 45th anniversary.

NOT ALL members of this Communist group—one of the smallest of the 90 Communist parties across the world — are as active or as frequently under assignment. But enough of them are that the party, it seems to me, should be of sharp concern.

The labor movement and its leaders, for example, should be especially concerned at this time.

The party has a technique of directing its members without cloak and dagger instructions written to them on onionskin paper in invisible ink. A favorite method of passing on a new line and new strategy is to distribute a "paper" for "discussion."

One such paper is now being circulated by party leaders, reflecting what they in turn got from special Soviet sources they must consult regularly. This "paper" outlines the Communist party's new policies on labor.

The carefully guarded document, when one rips through its sectarian semantics, calls for the creation of a new political party; for the organization of special groups among the unemployed; also for an outcry for nationalization of factories not in full production and for a $110-a-week minimum wage.

THE COMMUNIST document on labor policy says specifically that the time has come for its people inside unions, or those who have any influence on them from the outside, to agitate for the new political party by urging independent political action by trade unions.

Labor is urged to unite in a political alliance "with other progressive, democratic forces, minorities, small farmers, the mushrooming peace movement." This is advocated in order to form an "antimonopoly peoples' coalition party."

In the first seven, there is, in Aesopian language, a directive to get into stoppages and attempt to whip them up with "a higher level of solidarity in strikes and struggles of all workers, including the unemployed."

"Significant, too, is the following objective:

"An organized, united struggle against 'international runaways,' based on international solidarity and cooperation between the trade union movements of all countries."

There is also a demand for higher taxes on profits made by American firms abroad.

THIS IS AIMED at discouraging, by strikes on the home front if necessary, the efforts of American firms to capture some of the foreign market by building plants abroad. At the same time, U.S. firms operating abroad, will be hit by costly wildcat strikes such as have affected Ford in England.

The purpose, of course, is to prevent the export of U.S. know-how, the building of a prosperous Europe and the closing of markets to Soviet products.

Among the document's nine immediate demands is one for a vigorous political drive for public ownership of U.S. industries receiving government subsidies here at home. By "subsidies" the Communists mean federal orders of any kind. This is also an effort to nationalize transportation facilities.

THE PARTY also wants a government-labor-consumer board a have price control powers. Also a cutback in prices.

There is a call for the 1930s type of federal public works projects for youth and the unemployed. It was such projects which the party infiltrated so heavily more than 25 years ago.

There also is a demand for the end of arbitration during labor crises.

There is more. But the pattern is obvious.

The American Communist party is lining up its people and its fellow travelers for a drive to revive the days of the 30s. Out of such turbulence they hope to recoup their old strength.

Changes In 21 Years

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

What has changed since Pearl Harbor, 21 years ago today, the length of time in which a human being is supposed to come to maturity?

In those 21 years man has had some moments of isolated splendor.

He shook the pull of earth and soared into space. He stood on the threshold of the unknown: a journey to the moon. He made great progress against forces that shorten his life, like disease.

Yet, his life became more uncertain than ever.

His primitive inability to work out reasonably a peaceful existence on this limited earth didn't improve. His deep hostilities toward his neighbor haven't changed. They just took new directions.

These have been a distressed, distracted, groping 21 years.

They have been so full of talk of war, fear of war and war itself, of invasions, killings, tyrannies, treacheries and assassinations man seemed to learn nothing from the massacres that ended temporarily in 1945.

The examples come to mind easily enough: war in Korea, China, India, Viet Nam, Laos, North Africa, the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt, the assassinations in Algeria, revolutions in Asia and Latin America, the slaughter in the Congo, Moslem-Hindu bloodbaths, the American-Russian missile crisis in Cuba.

To us, involved in the daily doings, this may have seemed like a time of motion.

But historians, looking back 500 years from now, may conclude the only real change in these 21 years in man's dealing with man was his discovery of how better to make war worse.

World War II produced rockets and atomic bombs. All man had to do then was learn how to attach the bombs to the rockets. He learned easily and made previous wars look old-fashioned and humane.

While this had a frightening effect on man for obvious reasons—the more the number of nations with the bomb, the less everybody's life-expectancy—it didn't deter him a moment.

He went on making bigger bombs as if hypnotized by fright into thinking that if he frightened himself enough he'd become too frightened to use what frightened him.

To future generations, if there are any, this may look like simple jungle witchcraft, especially since man is now so deep in his own atomic trance he has been unable to come out of it.

But to mankind today it all seems so normal and practical that he is pouring into bombs he hopes he never uses vast resources and treasure which, if employed for the good of mankind, could make life better and richer.

Historians may decide World War II didn't change things basically but only rearranged them in a way just as grisly.

By eliminating Nazism-Fascism as a third and ambitious world force, it quickened the inevitable confrontation between the western and Communist concept of life and progress.

The war didn't lessen this problem. It intensified it. Communism, which was limited to Russia and felt held within its borders, expanded jubilantly after the war in Europe and Asia.

As part of the rearrangements of World War II, old enemies became new allies, old allies became new enemies.

The deep roots of ancient agonies remain as fresh as ever racial and religious hate, national cupidities, enormous chasms between rich and poor around the world, intolerance, and even new nationalisms.

Perhaps in time, around the world, man, out of need and fear, will choose to live peacefully for reasons of common sense. He has not shown much of it in the past 21 years.

Facts You Should Know About Septic Tanks

A Septic Tank is actually the "stomach" of the disposal system, its purpose being to digest and liquefy the solids entering it, discharging liquids to the disposal area.

In general, Septic Tanks are constructed of steel or concrete, varying in size from 500 to 10,000 gallon capacities. Correctly made and installed, they form an air-tight and watertight chamber.

The inlet carries the raw sewage into the first chamber of the tank. Most of the solids will settle to the bottom of this chamber, developing bacterial colonies which "feed" on these solids. This bottom layer is termed, "sludge". A crust or "mat" will usually form on the top, this being composed mainly of greases and fatty substances which have a tendency to float. The second chamber enables further clarification of the water prior to passing out to the drainage area. Water leaving a Septic Tank is referred to as "effluent."

Septic Tanks will operate satisfactorily as long as the "mat" and "sludge" do not build up to the point where they start feeding through into the second chamber, and then out to the drainage area. Unfortunately, most people wait until the system "backs-up", which means that the tank is completely clogged and that large amounts of solids have passed through with the effluent.

Most Septic Tank failures are caused by (1) introduction of chemicals which destroy the bacteria life, (2) overloading, i.e., putting more into the tank in any 24-hour period than its designed capacity, (3) temperature changes which slow down the bacterial digestion, and (4) excessive use of greases and fats.

Regular use of "SEA-CAL" preferably combined with an initial "seeding" of the tank with "SEA-CAL" will usually eliminate all of the problems by introducing powerful glandular enzymes which accelerate the digestive action and prevent the passage of solids to the drainage area. Enzymes, such as are used in "SEA-CAL", are also extremely resistant to temperature and all changes, and the addition of millions of bacterial cultures (80,000,000 per gram) in SEA-CAL replaces the bacterial colonies that may have been destroyed.

It would be untrue to state that a Septic Tank need never be pumped, since sewage can only be digested to a point of "ash" and the introduction of inorganic materials such as sand, grit, metal, and glass, will create a build-up over a period of time that will have to be removed. However, with regular monthly treatments of SEA-CAL these pumpings should occur only at ten or twenty-year intervals.

Snow Blamed In 3 Hancock Auto Mishaps

Snow - slickened roads were blamed for three of four traffic mishaps investigated Thursday in Hancock County by the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny. Six persons were hurt, including three Weirton teen-agers.

Deputies said the Weirton youths were passengers in the north-bound 1952 sedan of Wayne E. Starkey, 17, of Weirton, who went off a steep grade of Route 66 north of New Cumberland and struck a culvert. The car upset on its side. The accident happened at 8 a.m. Thursday.

The injured included Darrell McCormick, 18, Richard Long, 17, and George Lahr. All were treated at Weirton General Hospital after the crash near Club Daily Double.

Three adults were hurt in a two-car crash on the curve below the Newell Bridge Thursday at 12:02 p.m.

Deputies said the collision involved the south-bound 1961 Pontiac of Mary E. Hanlin, 49, of Hanlin Station, R.D. 1, and a 1957 model Jeep driven north by Tony Ludovici, 38, of 615 Carolina Ave., Chester. Both vehicles were demolished.

Deputies said Mrs. Hanlin lost control on the slushy highway, and veered across the road and struck the Ludovici car coming in the opposite direction. Ludovici's vehicle upset, and Mrs. Hanlin's car went back across the road and struck a guardrail, deputies said.

Mrs. Hanlin received a lacerated right knee and was treated at City Hospital. A passenger in Ludovici's vehicle — Jules J. Di-Federico, 44, of Steubenville — suffered lacerations and is in "fair" condition at the hospital. Mrs. June Kidd of Mingo, was treated at City Hospital for a fractured right arm.

In a third accident blamed on the slippery driving conditions, a 1960 model Rambler operated by Gene A. Lytton, 407 Washington St., Newell struck the parked 1958 station wagon of Richard Dunlevy, 32, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 Thursday at 6:55 a.m. on Route 66 near Nessley Chapel.

Deputies said Lytton's car was demolished and damage to the Dunlevy vehicle was estimated at $150. Lytton was north - bound. No one was injured.

Cars driven by Newell and Wellsville drivers were involved in another collision Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at 5th St., in Newell, deputies said.

Howard E. Parsons, 60, of Newell Heights was leaving a parking lot at 5th St. in the face of oncoming traffic when he struck a 1957 model sedan driven by Donald L. Hutchinson, 39, of 1616 Maple St. Wellsville, deputies said. They estimated $75 damage to the Parsons car.

Deputies filed no charges in any of the four accidents.

Sandblasting Halts

said. It damaged the left front fender, hood and bumper of the Doutt car and the entire front of the Wright auto, police said.

Doutt told police he was driving west when the Wright auto cut in front of him from behind another car. The woman motorist said she was headed east and stopped to turn north into a service station. She proceeded when another driver halted and waved her on, she said.

Robert L. Smith, 44, of 806 Dewey Ave. was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol as an aftermath of a collision at Broadway and Potters Alley Thursday night at 10:22.

Police said his 1958 sedan was involved in a collision with a 1961 compact driven by Ruth Ilene Irwin, 46, of R.D. 3. The woman motorist said Smith did not halt when driving onto Broadway from the alley. Smith told police he did not see the Irwin car.

Appearing this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Paul Tobin, Smith was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and his operator's permit was suspended for six months.

A collision at 4:22 p.m. yesterday at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St. involved a 1960 sedan driven by Timothy Horner, 18, of 2220 Harvey Ave. and a 1955 sedan driven by Cledith Miller, 50, of 2216 Crawford Ave., police said.

Horner said the Miller auto slid into his path.

Cars driven by David Waggle, 17, of 502 Sugar St. and Willie Jones, 31, of 1216 Erie St., were damaged in a mishap Thursday at 6:10 p.m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and Wedgewood St., police said.

A mishap on the Lisbon St. Hill at 6:25 p.m. yesterday involved a 1955 sedan driven by Nancy A. Calhoun, 22, of 325 W. 4th St. and a 1959 four - door sedan operated by Dorothy A. Post, 44, of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, police said.

The Post auto was halted when hit by the Calhoun car, police said. The W. 4th St. woman said she attempted to halt, but her brakes failed, officers reported.

Rhodes Eyes 3 Or 4 For Industrial Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes has three of four men under consideration for appointment as head of his proposed jobs and industrial development program.

Rhodes admitted that two of those being considered are George E. Wilson, director of the Akron Area Development Committee, and Willard Brown, Cleveland business executive and unsuccessful candidate for mayor of that city.

"There are one or two other too," said Rhodes. He declined to disclose their names.

"There are many applications for positions," the governor-elect asserted, "but none has been finalized yet. No appointments or positions have been offered to any one, except the two already made."

Sanitary Board Airs Chester Plant Survey

The Chester Sanitary Board met Thursday night to discuss plans for the proposed sewage disposal plant and a required preliminary survey for the project.

The board — Mayor Harry Abrams, John Pinney and Richard Lee — reviewed past meetings with A. R. Todd, Wheeling engineer, and Jess Smith of McGill-Smith of Bethel, Ohio, concerning the survey.

3 New Waterford Residents Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

Three New Waterford residents were injured in one of 10 district traffic mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Thursday.

A car operated by Inez Rupert, 48, of State St., New Waterford, struck the rear of a halted car driven by James Floyd Dyce, 18, of New Waterford R.D. 1 on Route 14 just west of Route 7.

Inez Rupert suffered a laceration of the lip, and Dyce and Dixie Dyce, 5, a passenger in his car, received possible back injuries. The woman was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear-distance.

Ronald Keys, 31, of Glenn St., Glenmoor, was cited for failure to halt for a stop sign after his car and one operated by Richard A. Marshall, 19, of 307 Carolina Ave. collided on Route 267 about two miles north of the city limits at 4:15 p.m.

Officers said Keys was headed west on County Rd. 424 and his car went into the path of the other. Damage was moderate and no one was injured.

Andrew Stanchak, 42, of Bloomingdale escaped injury when his double trailer rig, loaded with steel, veered off Route 39 about three miles west of Wellsville yesterday morning and struck a guardrail, dumping part of the steel, officers said.

Officers continued to investigate a report of a truck striking a bridge railing and guardrail along Route 517 last night.

Facts You Should Know About Septic Tanks

A Septic Tank is actually the "stomach" of the disposal system, its purpose being to digest and liquefy the solids entering it, discharging liquids to the disposal area.

In general, Septic Tanks are constructed of steel or concrete, varying in size from 500 to 10,000 gallon capacities. Correctly made and installed, they form an air-tight and watertight chamber.

The inlet carries the raw sewage into the first chamber of the tank. Most of the solids will settle to the bottom of this chamber, developing bacterial colonies which "feed" on these solids. This bottom layer is termed, "sludge". A crust or "mat" will usually form on the top, this being composed mainly of greases and fatty substances which have a tendency to float. The second chamber enables further clarification of the water prior to passing out to the drainage area. Water leaving a Septic Tank is referred to as "effluent."

Septic Tanks will operate satisfactorily as long as the "mat" and "sludge" do not build up to the point where they start feeding through into the second chamber, and then out to the drainage area. Unfortunately, most people wait until the system "backs-up", which means that the tank is completely clogged and that large amounts of solids have passed through with the effluent.

Most Septic Tank failures are caused by (1) introduction of chemicals which destroy the bacteria life, (2) overloading, i.e., putting more into the tank in any 24-hour period than its designed capacity, (3) temperature changes which slow down the bacterial digestion, and (4) excessive use of greases and fats.

Regular use of "SEA-CAL" preferably combined with an initial "seeding" of the tank with "SEA-CAL" will usually eliminate all of the problems by introducing powerful glandular enzymes which accelerate the digestive action and prevent the passage of solids to the drainage area. Enzymes, such as are used in "SEA-CAL", are also extremely resistant to temperature and all changes, and the addition of millions of bacterial cultures (80,000,000 per gram) in SEA-CAL replaces the bacterial colonies that may have been destroyed.

It would be untrue to state that a Septic Tank need never be pumped, since sewage can only be digested to a point of "ash" and the introduction of inorganic materials such as sand, grit, metal, and glass, will create a build-up over a period of time that will have to be removed. However, with regular monthly treatments of SEA-CAL these pumpings should occur only at ten or twenty-year intervals.

Snow Blamed In 3 Hancock Auto Mishaps

Snow - slickened roads were blamed for three of four traffic mishaps investigated Thursday in Hancock County by the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny. Six persons were hurt, including three Weirton teen-agers.

Deputies said the Weirton youths were passengers in the north-bound 1952 sedan of Wayne E. Starkey, 17, of Weirton, who went off a steep grade of Route 66 north of New Cumberland and struck a culvert. The car upset on its side. The accident happened at 8 a.m. Thursday.

The injured included Darrell McCormick, 18, Richard Long, 17, and George Lahr. All were treated at Weirton General Hospital after the crash near Club Daily Double.

Three adults were hurt in a two-car crash on the curve below the Newell Bridge Thursday at 12:02 p.m.

Deputies said the collision involved the south-bound 1961 Pontiac of Mary E. Hanlin, 49, of Hanlin Station, R.D. 1, and a 1957 model Jeep driven north by Tony Ludovici, 38, of 615 Carolina Ave., Chester. Both vehicles were demolished.

Deputies said Mrs. Hanlin lost control on the slushy highway, and veered across the road and struck the Ludovici car coming in the opposite direction. Ludovici's vehicle upset, and Mrs. Hanlin's car went back across the road and struck a guardrail, deputies said.

Mrs. Hanlin received a lacerated right knee and was treated at City Hospital. A passenger in Ludovici's vehicle — Jules J. DiFederico, 44, of Steubenville — suffered lacerations and is in "fair" condition at the hospital. Mrs. June Kidd of Mingo, was treated at City Hospital for a fractured right arm.

In a third accident blamed on the slippery driving conditions, a 1960 model Rambler operated by Gene A. Lytton, 407 Washington St., Newell struck the parked 1958 station wagon of Richard Dunlevy, 32, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 Thursday at 6:55 a.m. on Route 66 near Nessley Chapel.

Deputies said Lytton's car was demolished and damage to the Dunlevy vehicle was estimated at $150. Lytton was north - bound. No one was injured.

Cars driven by Newell and Wellsville drivers were involved in another collision Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at 5th St., in Newell, deputies said.

Howard E. Parsons, 60, of Newell Heights was leaving a parking lot at 5th St. in the face of oncoming traffic when he struck a 1957 model sedan driven by Donald L. Hutchinson, 39, of 1616 Maple St. Wellsville, deputies said. They estimated $75 damage to the Parsons car.

Deputies filed no charges in any of the four accidents.

Police said his 1958 sedan was involved in a collision with a 1961 compact driven by Ruth Ilene Irwin, 46, of R.D. 3. The woman motorist said Smith did not halt when driving onto Broadway from the alley. Smith told police he did not see the Irwin car.

Appearing this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Paul Tobin, Smith was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and his operator's permit was suspended for six months.

A collision at 4:22 p.m. yesterday at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St. involved a 1960 sedan driven by Timothy Horner, 18, of 2220 Harvey Ave. and a 1955 sedan driven by Cledith Miller, 50, of 2216 Crawford Ave., police said.

Horner said the Miller auto slid into his path.

Cars driven by David Waggle, 17, of 502 Sugar St. and Willie Jones, 31, of 1216 Erie St., were damaged in a mishap Thursday at 6:10 p.m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and Wedgewood St., police said.

A mishap on the Lisbon St. Hill at 6:25 p.m. yesterday involved a 1955 sedan driven by Nancy A. Calhoun, 22, of 325 W. 4th St. and a 1959 four - door sedan operated by Dorothy A. Post, 44, of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, police said.

The Post auto was halted when hit by the Calhoun car, police said. The W. 4th St. woman said she attempted to halt, but her brakes failed, officers reported.

Worst Storm In 12 Years Slams Ohio

Bureau records, the heaviest snow fall on record was in November 1913, when 22.2 inches fell. In November 1950, a storm piled up 20.9 inches.

Forecaster Dave Bruce said it appeared now the storm would taper off to snow flurries late tonight. "Drifting will be the big headache after that," he added.

The worst snowstorm in 12 years in greater Cleveland meant a vacation from school for thousands of children, giving them a three-day weekend. The entire Cleveland public school system and all Catholic schools in the diocese were shut down. School systems in many of the Cleveland suburbs also canceled classes for the day as did schools in many other areas of Ohio.

Several thousand homes in greater Cleveland and some adjoining counties were without power, with the temperature dipping to the freezing mark. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said snow pulled down feeder lines in several parts of the area. The company said the clogged streets and highways were hampering repair crews in their efforts to restore service.

Public transportation was maintained in Cleveland, but the buses and Rapid Transit trains were running behind schedule. Several industrial plants closed down because of the inability of many of their employes to get to work.

Family Service Association offices in Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties also were closed.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Cleveland said Northeast Ohio would have more snow today, with an additional accumulation of two to five inches general over the area and up to eight inches additional in the higher terrain inland from Lake Erie.

Traffic jams developed during the rush hour Thursday night in Cleveland and Akron, but no major accidents were reported.

In Akron, traffic was tied up for an hour on the expressway because several cars piled up on an ice-covered bridge.

In Parma, a Cleveland suburb, some motorists told police they were as much as 2½ hours late getting home from work. Police said because of the massive traffic jam on Pearl Road (U.S. 42) they had trouble getting salt trucks into intersections so the ice could be melted.

U.S. 21 between Cleveland and Akron was closed for two hours south of Brecksville.

Geauga County again was the snow capital of the state, with up to 14 inches reported on the ground in the Chardon and Kirtland areas at midnight.

Snow depths in greater Cleveland ranged from 5 inches on the West Side to 12 inches in the eastern suburbs. The snow was accompanied by wind gusts ranging from 25 to 60 miles an hour, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported.

The Weather Bureau at Akron-Canton Airport reported nine inches of snow on the ground, with strong winds causing considerable drifting. Parts of Ashland County reported eight inches, Medina County seven inches, Youngstown six, Toledo and Marietta four, Columbus two and Dayton one. Only a trace of snow as reported in Cincinnati.

The Geauga County sheriff's department in Chardon reported hills on U.S. 6, 322, 422, Ohio 44 and Ohio 87 clogged with cars Thursday night.

Tow trucks were pressed into service to help clear the hills, while snow plows, salt spreaders and other equipment worked on the highways.

In Portage County the situation was reported as terrible by a deputy. "Any place there's a hill, it's awful bad," he said.

In addition to the Cleveland schools, others closing included those in parts of Geauga, Lake, Ashland, Lorain, Wayne, Vinton and Medina counties.

The Ohio Committee for Civil Rights Legislation cancelled a meeting scheduled for noon today in Columbus because of hazardous driving conditions in many areas of the state.

In Cleveland, the Red Cross announced that the weather had forced cancellation of its Bloodmobile visits to Akron and Medina today. Both will be rescheduled later, a spokesman said.

Traffic accidents were numerous throughout the snow belt, but only one of a serious nature was reported.

At Columbus, Earl Prater, 42, of Prestonburg, Ky., was injured critically on Interstate 71. He was towing a house trailer when his car ran out of gas and he pulled to the side of the freeway. The crew of a city snow plow stopped to help him and a tractor-trailer crashed into the snow plow. The impact caused the plow to ram the house trailer, which pinned Prater between it and his auto.

The lightest snowfall was reported in the southwest corner of the state, where forecasters said there would be one to two inches on the ground when the storm ends tonight.

Season's First Major Snow Hits Wide Areas

By The Associated Press

The season's first major snowstorm left a blanket more than a foot deep across broad areas from the Great Lakes into New York a southward into Tennessee today.

Cold weather added to the wintry picture. Temperatures tumbled sharply as gusty winds fanned the snow and cold air in a wide sweep across the Ohio Valley to the Southern Appalachians and Mid-Atlantic Coast. Freezing weather chilled northern Florida.

The late autumn storm was blamed for at least 14 deaths, most of them in traffic accidents on snow-covered highways. Five persons died while shoveling snow, three in Michigan and two in the Cleveland area.

The heavy snow belt extended over Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York state, West Virginia and Maryland, with smaller amounts in Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. Hazardous driving conditions were reported in many parts of the snow belt.

The storm dumped 14 inches of snow in Olean, in western New York, where falls ranged from about a foot to five inches.

In Tennessee, snow measured 10 inches at Newfound Gap in the Smokies and was 4 to 5 inches deep in other mountain areas. Elkins, W.Va., reported 13 inches on the ground. Falls ranged up to eight inches in Michigan and Indiana.

West Virginia Reels Under Wintry Blast

By The Associated Press

Deep, drifting snow caused by strong wind left West Virginia reeling today from the winter's worst storm, which already has been blamed for two deaths.

Traffic was snarled as primary roads were covered with snow and ice and some secondary routes were impassable. Mountainous highways were especially treacherous.

Picturesque Blackwater Falls State Park in Tucker County had snow drifts of 15 to 18 feet. In the southern end of the state, Flat Top Mountain had drifts of up to 20 feet.

Man Indicted On 6 Manslaughter Counts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Justin J. Geraitis has been indicted on six counts of traffic manslaughter stemming from an accident in which six Akron school teachers lost their lives.

Geraitis, 41, was the driver of a truck that crossed the center strip on U. S. 21 Nov. 2 and slammed into the car carrying the six teachers. He was indicted by the Cuyahoga County Grand jury Thursday.

Authorities said Geraitis apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his truck. The truck driver has said he could not recall anything before his truck hit the car just north of the junction with Ohio 17.

"I KNOW that finding a defendant guilty for something they didn't do is the most serious thing a jury can do," Judge Sharp declared, "But it is also a miscarriage of justice to encourage other people to commit serious crimes if a person whom the evidence shows is guilty is acquitted."

Atty. Springer later said he feels he would not be performing his duties as defense counsel if he didn't request that the next trial be held in another county in view of Judge Sharp's remarks to the jury and the subsequent newspaper coverage, but he said he had no definite plans for such a request.

He said he had told Miss Smith and her family to rest for a few days after the ordeal of the long trial and a review of the case will be held in a few days.

Prosecutor Brokaw said he will study the trial transcript before seeking a date for the new trial.

Murder-Suicide Seen In Death Of Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Harris and his wife Geraldine, both in their mid-30's, were found dead in their apartment this morning, the apparent victims of a murder-suicide.

A neighbor, Mrs. Irma Niles, called police after one of the Harris children ran over to her house and said:

"Mommy and daddy are dead and there is blood all over the place."

Police said Mrs. Harris was lying in a bed in the apartment in the Cumminsville section. Harris was lying on the floor.

Officers said an automatic pistol was found nearby, but there was no indication immediately of what happened.

County Planners Will Convene Dec. 17

ed the public to be patient, declaring the street department is making every effort to keep streets passable.

East Liverpool street department crews have been working continuously since 5 p. m. Tuesday, Asst. Supt. Ed Bowersock said.

Three trucks and crews were on the job until 1 this morning, spreading ashes and salt. One truck crew knocked off at 1, but the other two remained on the job.

But the snow covered the ashes and salt as fast as they were spread. This morning, two snowplows were put on the job. They will clear grades first, then more ashes and salt will be spread.

Another crew was assigned to the downtown area, clearing snow from crosswalks. Parking became a problem shortly after daylight this morning because of the deep mounds of snow that built up along curbs after sidewalks had been cleared.

The new freeway added to the street department's problems. The bridge over W. 8th St. tended to remain icy, despite continued applications of salt. Bowersock said salt was spread on the bridge on at least three occasions last night. Drifting was reported on the freeway and on the approach ramps at the interchange in West End.

Bowersock declared that the street department is using all available men and equipment in its effort to keep traffic moving.

Bald Tires Can Lead To Traffic Citations

Motorists who halt traffic because of bald tires on their autos will leave themselves open to ticketing by police, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen warned today.

Many of the traffic tie-ups Thursday night were caused by autos that could not get traction in the snow because of bare tires, the director said. If such motorists venture onto the streets during the heavy snow and tie up traffic, they will be ticketed, he warned.

Worst Storm In 12 Years Slams Ohio

Bureau records, the heaviest snow fall on record was in November 1913, when 22.2 inches fell. In November 1950, a storm piled up 20.9 inches.

Forecaster Dave Bruce said it appeared now the storm would taper off to snow flurries late tonight. "Drifting will be the big headache after that," he added.

The worst snowstorm in 12 years in greater Cleveland meant a vacation from school for thousands of children, giving them a three-day weekend. The entire Cleveland public school system and all Catholic schools in the diocese were shut down. School systems in many of the Cleveland suburbs also canceled classes for the day as did schools in many other areas of Ohio.

Several thousand homes in greater Cleveland and some adjoining counties were without power, with the temperature dipping to the freezing mark. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said snow pulled down feeder lines in several parts of the area. The company said the clogged streets and highways were hampering repair crews in their efforts to restore service.

Public transportation was maintained in Cleveland, but the buses and Rapid Transit trains were running behind schedule. Several industrial plants closed down because of the inability of many of their employes to get to work.

Family Service Association offices in Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties also were closed.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Cleveland said Northeast Ohio would have more snow today, with an additional accumulation of two to five inches general over the area and up to eight inches additional in the higher terrain inland from Lake Erie.

Traffic jams developed during the rush hour Thursday night in Cleveland and Akron, but no major accidents were reported.

In Akron, traffic was tied up for an hour on the expressway because several cars piled up on an ice-covered bridge.

In Parma, a Cleveland suburb, some motorists told police they were as much as 2½ hours late getting home from work. Police said because of the massive traffic jam on Pearl Road (U.S. 42) they had trouble getting salt trucks into intersections so the ice could be melted.

U.S. 21 between Cleveland and Akron was closed for two hours south of Brecksville.

Geauga County again was the snow capital of the state, with up to 14 inches reported on the ground in the Chardon and Kirtland areas at midnight.

Snow depths in greater Cleveland ranged from 5 inches on the West Side to 12 inches in the eastern suburbs. The snow was accompanied by wind gusts ranging from 25 to 60 miles an hour, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported.

The Weather Bureau at Akron-Canton Airport reported nine inches of snow on the ground, with strong winds causing considerable drifting. Parts of Ashland County reported eight inches, Medina County seven inches, Youngstown six, Toledo and Marietta four, Columbus two and Dayton one. Only a trace of snow as reported in Cincinnati.

The Geauga County sheriff's department in Chardon reported hills on U.S. 6, 322, 422, Ohio 44 and Ohio 87 clogged with cars Thursday night.

Tow trucks were pressed into service to help clear the hills, while snow plows, salt spreaders and other equipment worked on the highways.

In Portage County the situation was reported as terrible by a deputy. "Any place there's a hill, it's awful bad," he said.

In addition to the Cleveland schools, others closing included those in parts of Geauga, Lake, Ashland, Lorain, Wayne, Vinton and Medina counties.

The Ohio Committee for Civil Rights Legislation cancelled a meeting scheduled for noon today in Columbus because of hazardous driving conditions in many areas of the state.

In Cleveland, the Red Cross announced that the weather had forced cancellation of its Bloodmobile visits to Akron and Medina today. Both will be rescheduled later, a spokesman said.

Police Silent On Leads In Bank Theft

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police were mum about leads in the $39,500 bank robbery Thursday, but indications were they want to question a former Cincinnatian.

Two men wearing hooded parkas forced a housewife to accompany them as hostage in the quick, efficient robbery of the White Oak branch of the Southern Ohio National Bank.

The housewife, Mrs. Robert J. Carle, 32, said she was taken along at gunpoint after offering to help one man who knocked at her front door and said he was out of gas.

Mrs. Carle had left her two children, age 3 and 6, at home. The bandit took her in her car, picked up his partner and then went to the bank.

Five employes and a customer were forced to sit on the bank floor, while the manager, James Harris, 30, with a gunman menacing him, was required to clean out the vault cash reserves into a pillowcase.

Mrs. Carle was allowed to leave the car in an isolated area after the robbery, and the auto was found abandoned a few miles further.

There was no indication whether officers tracked down the unidentified man sought for questioning.

Mrs. Carle, who commented the bandit who stopped at her home was polite but firm, said, "I read about it and I've seen it on television, but I never thought it would happen to me.

"I never had such a frightening experience in my life."

2 At Lisbon To Face Grand Jury For Theft

LISBON — Two Lisbon suspects were bound over to the January Grand Jury Thursday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for grand larceny Dec. 5, at the Lisbon Steel Fabricating Co.

Ralph L. Jones, 22, of 510½ W. Lincoln Ave., and Robert A. Hutcheson, 19, of Grant St. pleaded guilty and $1,000 bond was set for each.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan filed the charge after they admitted taking tools valued at $1,100. Both remain in the County Jail.

The popular expression "Indian giver" originated in Colonial days when the Indians apparently expected an equivalent for any gift they gave, and if they did not get one, they demanded the return of their gift.

Hoffa's Trial Seen Running To January

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A lawyer for James R. Hoffa predicts the Teamsters president's million-dollar conspiracy trial will run into early January.

William Bufalino's forecast followed U.S. Dis 2 Judge William E. Miller's unexpected decision Thursday to recess the trial until Monday.

Miller gave no explanation for either the weekend adjournment or his decision, announced simultaneously, to lock up the jury for the remainder of the trial, now through its seventh week.

Both announcements followed a secret, three-hour court session to which all spectators and newsmen were barred by armed marshals. Glass panels on the courtroom doors were covered.

No inkling as to what took place leaked out. In asking for the secret session, U.S. Atty. James Neal said only that he wanted to take up a motion that had nothing to do with Wednesday's shooting incident.

Hoffa, 49, was not harmed by the pellets fired at him in open court by an ex-mental patient who said he had an urge to kill the labor leader. The man, Warren Swanson, 28, was ordered committed to a mental hospital for observation.

Hoffa is accused of accepting concealed payoffs from Commercial Carriers, Inc., a Detroit-based auto transport firm, in return for labor peace.

Midland Road Bidding Set

The Pennsylvania State Highway Department announced it will open bids Dec. 28 at Harrisburg for various projects, including reconstruction of Route 168 in Midland and Ohioville.

The total length of the project will be 13,813 feet.

The work calls for widening the existing pavement with crushed aggregate base 7 feet and 8 inches. The new base and existing pavement will be surfaced with bituminous material 22 feet wide.

The work will include extension of two existing concrete arches and reinforced concrete T-beam bridge.

Last spring, highway officials said bids would be asked in the fall and a contract awarded next spring.

The work would not be started in the winter as school buses and other traffic might be endangered if the road was torn up during bad weather. Residents have long complained that the road is so narrow it is dangerous for vehicles to pass. The Beaver County division of the state department worked on the berms last summer.

Hancock Gas Users To Share In Refunds

Hancock County customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. will share in a temporary, 12-month gas rate reduction of a quarter-million dollars, the utility has announced.

Some 48,500 West Virginia gas customers will benefit. The plan will lower rates about 1½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet during the period Tuesday through Dec. 3, 1963.

Refunds will amount to about $3.60 for a typical heating customer and 90 cents for a non-heating customer over the year.

The trials of suspended Sgt. Eugene Kirk and Patrolman Ted R. Land also developed into hung juries several months ago.

In the case of Brown, the prosecution attempted to prove that he had participated in a break-in at the firm with two other policemen.

Ohio Apparently To Have Fewer Cases Of Polio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio apparently will have fewer reported cases of polio this year than at any time since the State Health Department began keeping records.

Sixteen substantiated cases are on record for the year in Ohio, department officials said, compared with 636 in the entire nation. Originally there were thought to be 17 cases, but one turned out to be something else.

Last year, Ohio had 42 of the 780 cases reported in the nation. In 1960, the state had 112 of the 1,908 reported cases, and in 1959, 258 of the 5,474 cases reported nationally.

During the last two full years before Salk vaccine results were announced, 1953 and 1954, Ohio was well over 2,000 reported cases annually.

All 16 cases reported this year involve paralysis, the department said. There were two each in Ashtabula, Mahoning, Portage, Seneca, Logan, Clark, Greene and Hamilton counties.

The beginning of the Atomic Age is generally conceded to have been July 16, 1945, when the first man-made atomic explosion took place on the desert of New Mexico, at the Alamongordo air base.

Hancock Gas Users To Share In Refunds

Hancock County customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. will share in a temporary, 12-month gas rate reduction of a quarter-million dollars, the utility has announced.

It is the seventh such refund move in 18 months and the reductions follow rebates made to Manufacturers by pipeline suppliers, for gas deliveries in earlier years under wholesale gas rates regulated by the Federal Power Commission.

Some 48,500 West Virginia gas customers will benefit. The plan will lower rates about 1½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet during the period Tuesday through Dec. 3, 1963.

Refunds will amount to about $3.60 for a typical heating customer and 90 cents for a non-heating customer over the year.

Ohio Apparently To Have Fewer Cases Of Polio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio apparently will have fewer reported cases of polio this year than at any time since the State Health Department began keeping records.

Sixteen substantiated cases are on record for the year in Ohio, department officials said, compared with 636 in the entire nation. Originally there were thought to be 17 cases, but one turned out to be something else.

Last year, Ohio had 42 of the 780 cases reported in the nation. In 1960, the state had 112 of the 1,908 reported cases, and in 1959, 258 of the 5,474 cases reported nationally.

During the last two full years before Salk vaccine results were announced, 1953 and 1954, Ohio was well over 2,000 reported cases annually.

All 16 cases reported this year involve paralysis, the department said. There were two each in Ashtabula, Mahoning, Portage, Seneca, Logan, Clark, Greene and Hamilton counties.

The beginning of the Atomic Age is generally conceded to have been July 16, 1945, when the first man-made atomic explosion took place on the desert of New Mexico, at the Alamongordo air base.

Pickets Shut Down Mine

IAEGER, W. Va. (AP) — Picketing coal miners from the Iaeger area shut down a large McDowell County coal mine last night and threw the three - week - old southern West Virginia coal field strike into further confusion.

Several large mines in the Williamson area had resumed operation only yesterday following two days of unauthorized picketing by Kentucky coal miners.

Both union officials and spokesmen for the small operators had expressed confidence the dispute over royalty payments to the United Mine Workers Union would be settled shortly.

Last night's action at Island Creek No. 6 mine between Iaeger and Bradshaw cast a different light on the situation.

It was the first time that West Virginia pickets had shut down a large operation which had been complying with the royalty clause of the union contract.

A small mine operator in the Iaeger area paid some 80 pickets from UMW locals here and at Ikes Fork appeared at Island Creek No. 6. The pickets arrived shortly before the mine's night shift was to go to work.

The No. 6 mine employes more than 100 workers and all refused to cross the picket line and returned home, the operator said.

Quits 'Buying Time'

Playwright Wins Gamble

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An inability to draw horses led cartoonist Herb Gardner to seek fame as a playwright—and he won on his very first try.

"I've always associated horses with the unemployment problem," said Herb, author of the current Broadway comdey hit, "A Thousand Clowns," starring Jason Robards Jr.

"Most of the times I left jobs it was because sooner or later the boss would ask me to draw a horse, and I couldn't. When I drew a horse it looked like a cross between a dog and radio city."

At 27, tall and curly-haired, Gardner himself looks like a cross between Thomas Wolfe and Orson Welles when they were that age.

Herb started yearning to be a writer at 13. He learned the rudiments of stagecraft in his youth by working as an orange juice salesman and hat checker in Times Square theaters, and recalls seeing one play 140 times.

There followed several frustrating years as a commercial artist, years in which he sculptured bunnies and walruses for a toy firm or drew endless panels in animated film cartoons.

Gardner was making a good living as creator of the Nebbish comic strip when he decided to chuck it all and gamble on his writing skill. Working in a cheap unheated West Side apartment, he turned out "A Thousand Clowns" in 2½ years. It rang an immediate bell.

His experience has made Herb something of an apostle for the philosophy of chance-taking.

"Too many people are working merely to buy time," he said. "They work just to have Saturday and Sunday off.

"I didn't want to go on buying time, because I was afraid I might find the time I bought I was merely using to buy more time.

"There is too much living for the time being. People should do now all the things they'll wish 30 years from now they'd done."

With the royalty money rolling in, Herb and Rita, his actress wife, are now busy furnishing an expensive six-room apartment on the East Side. But the acclaim that greeted his first play hasn't gone to his head.

After Runaway Polaris

Range Safety Procedures Due For Study At Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Range safety procedures will be surveyed carefully as the result of a wrong-way runaway section of a Polaris missile which escaped destruction and landed in the Atlantic Ocean 150 miles east of Savannah, Ga.

"If that missile piece had headed inland instead of toward the wide open ocean," a source said, "the only thing we could have done would be to pray that it did not hit a populated area."

The Polaris began twisting wildly in the sky shortly after the second stage ignited during a test flight Thursday, and the range safety officer beamed a radio signal to destroy the missile.

However, a large section, still under power, escaped detonation and suddenly shifted from an intended southeast heading to a northeast direction.

After word of the wayward rocket leaked out, the Air Force admitted it landed in the sea 300 tc 350 miles northeast of Cape Canaveral. There was no nuclear device aboard. The range safety officer reported, without elaboration, that the command destruct system had worked properly.

Sources said that apparently the missile was not properly wired for complete detonation.

The solid-fuel Polaris has caused range safety problems in the past. On an early test flight in 1958, the safety officer destroyed a Polaris when it went off course, but a large part of the second stage survived and raced inland. It barely missed a trailer camp in nearby Cocoa Beach before dropping into a river.

That flight resulted in placement of several dynamite destruct packages throughout solid propellant missiles, instead of only in key areas, so that the vehicles could be blown to bits if necessary.

The failure Thursday was another disappointing blow to the Navy's advanced Polaris A3 development program. The rocket now has failed six times in as many flights, five times because of trouble in the second stage.

The Navy said that such failures could be expected early in the test program of such a complex missile as the A3, which is being developed to increase the rocket range of Polaris submarines to 2,875 miles. The earlier operational A1 and A2 models have maximum range of 1,725 miles.

An advanced version of the Titan missile, the power-packed Titan 2, also failed in a launching Thursday from Cape Canaveral. Premature cutoff of the second-stage engine caused the big rocket to drop into the Atlantic before it had traveled half its intended 8,000-mile distance.

Treat Slated For Children

Chester firemen Thursday night made further plans for the annual Christmas treat for community children.

Jerrold Wilson, Robert Pugh, William Wright and Paul Sherman were named the committee in charge of the event Dec. 22. Santa Claus will ride on the fire truck through the town, distributing the treats, starting at 1 p.m.

Plans were made to attend the Hancock County Firemen's Association meeting Dec. 18.

It was reported the department has received three Geiger counters and a dosimeters for detecting and measuring radioactive fallout. The equipment was provided by the Civil Defense at Weirton.

Lunch was served by Pugh, Sherman and Harry Huff. Officers will be elected at the meeting Jan. 3.

2 Women Motorists Forfeit After Mishaps

LISBON — Police reported two accidents Thursday at 4 p. m. in which two area women forfeited $15 appearance bonds for failing to yield the right-of-way.

Mrs. Jeane M. Holshue, 50, of Grant St., was cited for a mishap at Lincoln Way and Park Ave. just west of the square, when her car struck one driven by Catherine E. Buckley, 52, of 620 W. Lincoln Way. Police listed $300 damage to the Holshue car and $100 to the Buckley car.

Violet H. Braham, 52, of R. D. 2 was involved in a crash at an alley just east of S. Market St. and E. Washington St. Her car hit one driven by Daren Whitacre, 40, of R. D. 5. Damage was estimated at $400 to the Whitacre car and $10 to the Braham car.

Pravda Urges Talks To Discard U.S. Bases

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party paper Pravda called today for negotiations to liquidate American military bases around the Soviet Union.

The article, by the paper's authoritative diplomatic observer Yuri Zhukov, was the first important Soviet statement on U.S. overseas bases since President Kennedy rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand for a swap of Soviet rocket bases in Cuba for U.S. bases in Turkey.

Zhukov repeated standard Soviet charges—that the bases are provocations against the Soviet Union, that they have outlived their usefulness, and that they only serve to prop up unpopular regimes.

Ike 'Tees Off' On Custom Of Dinner Speaking

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower good-naturedly teed off Thursday night on the custom of after-dinner speaking.

Eisenhower made the cracks in an after-dinner speech at the Lotos Club, which held the affair in his honor. In the audience were many men who had served under him in military and civilian life.

Eisenhower made these points about speeches:

When asking a guest to say nothing at a dinner, the dinner committee expects a 20-minute speech.

An invitation to make a brief, off-the-cuff talk means the committee wants a written speech, three days in advance, so it can arrange for full press and television coverage.

Pravda Urges Talks To Discard U.S. Bases

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party paper Pravda called today for negotiations to liquidate American military bases around the Soviet Union.

The article, by the paper's authoritative diplomatic observer Yuri Zhukov, was the first important Soviet statement on U.S. overseas bases since President Kennedy rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand for a swap of Soviet rocket bases in Cuba for U.S. bases in Turkey.

Zhukov repeated standard Soviet charges—that the bases are provocations against the Soviet Union, that they have outlived their usefulness, and that they only serve to prop up unpopular regimes.

Ike 'Tees Off' On Custom Of Dinner Speaking

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower good-naturedly teed off Thursday night on the custom of after-dinner speaking.

Eisenhower made the cracks in an after-dinner speech at the Lotos Club, which held the affair in his honor. In the audience were many men who had served under him in military and civilian life.

Eisenhower made these points about speeches:

When asking a guest to say nothing at a dinner, the dinner committee expects a 20-minute speech.

An invitation to make a brief, off-the-cuff talk means the committee wants a written speech, three days in advance, so it can arrange for full press and television coverage.

Skybolt, Trouble-Plagued Missile, May Be Junked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trouble-plagued Skybolt, an air-launched missile that gave the manned bomber hope for longer life, may be headed for the discard.

A final decision has not been made. But informed sources say that as of now Defense Department budget drafters are not planning to allot money for the 1,000-mile-range missile next year.

These sources said the project is in serious trouble—and not only because the Skybolt has suffered five test flops in a row.

It was reported the Skybolt has lost favor with top Pentagon officials.

They were said to have come around to the view that by the time it is ready in any numbers the pre-eminent role in U.S. nuclear striking power will have been assumed by the Polaris submarine-launched missiles and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Air Force has been aiming to get the Skybolt combat-ready by October 1964. But the dismal test record so far may have pushed the operational date farther down the road.

About $650 million has been spent or allocated for the Skybolt, which the Douglas Aircraft Co. has been developing for the Air Force since 1959.

The concept calls for about 300 advance model B52 jet bombers to carry two nuclear-tipped Skybolts under each wing.

Instead of having to go in over their targets, the B52s would be able to stand off about 1,000 miles and strike at an enemy with Skybolts.

The Air Force insists the Skybolt is a promising weapon, worth the investment.

Earlier this week, it said development of the Skybolt is on schedule, despite test failures. It contended such setbacks are to be expected during work on new missile systems.

$50,000 Loss Set In Auto Agency Fire

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Fire at an automobile agency here early today caused damage estimated by firemen at $50,000.

Firemen from Painesville, Fairport, Perry and Mentor Headlands battled the flames at Lake Rambler Sales for more than three hours before bringing them under control. They were hampered by a strong wind and below-freezing temperature.

Lt. Tom Spear of the Painesville Fire Department was treated at Lake County Memorial Hospital for smoke inhalation. No other casualties were reported.

Several new automobiles and others in the garage for repairs were damaged by the flames and smoke.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Late Flier May Have Base Named For Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — A one-time Ohio Air National Guard pilot, killed last month in a plane crash in the Tennessee mountains, may have an Air Force base named in his memory.

Rep. Hjalmar C. Nygaard, R-N.D., says he will introduce a bill in Congress next month to change the name of Grand Forks (N.D.) Air Force Base to Lerom AFB, honoring the late Brig. Gen. John I. Lerom. Then a colonel, Lerom served in the Ohio Air Guard from 1957 to 1959 while an executive for General Electric in Cincinnati.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER FIVE

When Honeybun was a little bit of a cub in a faraway land, her mother had been killed by a hunter.

When the hunter discovered the orphaned baby bear, he was sorry for what he had done. He carried the cub all the way back to his own land and gave her to Mr. Shnoo.

"She's a runt and she's sickly," said the hunter. "But maybe she'll have a chance with you.

Mr. Shnoo fell in love with the little brown bear. He called her Honeybun. He kept her in his room and gave her milk from a bottle every three hours.

He kept hot water bottles in her bed and gave her cod liver oil and vitamins. Most importantly, he gave her lots and lots of T.L.C. which is a prescription for Tender, Loving Care.

Honeybun thrived. She was always a runt, but she was the liveliest runt anyone ever saw. After a few months she was so lively she was moved to the caves with the big bears.

EVERYONE loved her. She was such a showoff. She would stand on her hind legs and clap her paws and make funny faces. Little children saved all their peanuts to throw to Honeybun.

The bear would stand there making faces and putting on a regular circus until the children had thrown in all their peanuts. She knew exactly when the bags were emptied and no more peanuts coming. Then she would sweep up all the nuts from the ground and have a feast. She never lost a nut no matter where it landed.

Once a little girl squeezed between the bars of the cage and ran up to Honeybun, waving a vanilla ice cream cone. Everyone screamed and the keeper went leaping over the fence waving a stick.

They need not have become so excited. Honeybun simply licked the ice cream off the cone. Then she licked the little girl's mouth where some ice cream was sticking. Then she yawned and lay down for a nap.

'She'd never hurt a soul,' declared Mr. Shnoo.

"She'd never hurt a soul," declared Mr. Shnoo.

BUT NOW someone had hurt Honeybun. She came tottering out of her cave holding her paws over her mouth and growling deep in her throat.

"Something's stuck in her mouth," said Mr. Shnoo. He climbed the fence and put his arm around Honeybun's neck. Honeybun dropped to all fours and stood shaking her head, moaning and rolling her eyes. Mr. Shnoo put his hands on her muzzle and gently opened her jaws.

All Honeybun's teeth were gone!

Santa followed Mr. Shnoo over the fence. He picked up somethng from the ground. "Look! A firecracker!"

Now it was all clear. Someone had given Honeybun a firecracker instead of a peanut and the firecracker had gone off in the poor bear's mouth and blown out all her teeth.

Honeybun's roar of pain had been heard all over the zoo and attendants and office workers and the animal doctor gathered at the cave.

"Do something!" Mr. Shnoo begged the doctor. "She's in terrible pain."

The doctor examined Honeybun and shook his head. "Better put her to sleep," he said. "Without teeth she can never eat again. She'd starve by and by."

Santa stepped forward and said, "I think I can help her."

Crookshank was standing there with the rest and he said, "Whoever you are you'd better move on. You heard what the doctor said and he ought to know."

The others muttered among themselves saying, "Why not let him try?" And Mr. Shnoo took Santa's arm and said, "Please! Do what you can."

"Very well," said Santa. "But I can't do it here."

He tied a rope around Honeybun's neck and led her away. Mr. Shnoo watched until they had almost disappeared. Then he went running after them crying. "Wait for me! Wait for me!"

New Talks Set In Cleveland's Newspaper Tieup

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the strike against Cleveland's two major daily newspapers now in its second week, representatives of the publishers and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild scheduled a meeting this morning in another attempt to reach agreement on a new contract.

The Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press and News have not published since delivery drivers of Teamsters Local 473 began picketing the two newspaper plants Thursday night, Nov. 29. The Guild joined the strike the following day.

Negotiating sessions between the Teamsters and management are in recess, subject to call. Sessions between the Teamsters and management and the Guild and management have been held periodically in the office of federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin.

The Guild announced prior to a general membership meeting Thursday night that it had received $50,000 from the American Newspaper Guild's defensive fund and that strike benefits for the first week would be distributed today.

Wages and working conditions are the chief issues in the disputes involving the Teamsters and the Guild.

They need not have become so excited. Honeybun simply licked the ice cream off the cone. Then she licked the little girl's mouth where some ice cream was sticking. Then she yawned and lay down for a nap.

"She'd never hurt a soul," declared Mr. Shnoo.

BUT NOW someone had hurt Honeybun. She came tottering out of her cave holding her paws over her mouth and growling deep in her throat.

"Something's stuck in her mouth," said Mr. Shnoo. He climbed the fence and put his arm around Honeybun's neck. Honeybun dropped to all fours and stood shaking her head, moaning and rolling her eyes. Mr. Shnoo put his hands on her muzzle and gently opened her jaws.

All Honeybun's teeth were gone!

Santa followed Mr. Shnoo over the fence. He picked up somethng from the ground. "Look! A firecracker!"

Now it was all clear. Someone had given Honeybun a firecracker instead of a peanut and the firecracker had gone off in the poor bear's mouth and blown out all her teeth.

Honeybun's roar of pain had been heard all over the zoo and attendants and office workers and the animal doctor gathered at the cave.

The doctor examined Honeybun and shook his head. "Better put her to sleep," he said. "Without teeth she can never eat again. She'd starve by and by."

Santa stepped forward and said, "I think I can help her."

Crookshank was standing there with the rest and he said, "Whoever you are you'd better move on. You heard what the doctor said and he ought to know."

The others muttered among themselves saying, "Why not let him try?" And Mr. Shnoo took Santa's arm and said, "Please! Do what you can."

He tied a rope around Honeybun's neck and led her away. Mr. Shnoo watched until they had almost disappeared. Then he went running after them crying. "Wait for me! Wait for me!"

New Talks Set In Cleveland's Newspaper Tieup

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the strike against Cleveland's two major daily newspapers now in its second week, representatives of the publishers and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild scheduled a meeting this morning in another attempt to reach agreement on a new contract.

The Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press and News have not published since delivery drivers of Teamsters Local 473 began picketing the two newspaper plants Thursday night, Nov. 29. The Guild joined the strike the following day.

Negotiating sessions between the Teamsters and management are in recess, subject to call. Sessions between the Teamsters and management and the Guild and management have been held periodically in the office of federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin.

The Guild announced prior to a general membership meeting Thursday night that it had received $50,000 from the American Newspaper Guild's defensive fund and that strike benefits for the first week would be distributed today.

Wages and working conditions are the chief issues in the disputes involving the Teamsters and the Guild.

AF Colonel Sentenced In Wife Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Col. John A. Herrington, sentenced to five years at hard labor and dismissal from the Air Force for killing his wife and wounding a son, started a long but hopeful wait today for a review of his case.

Herrington, 46, a career officer once high in U.S. nuclear planning circles, shot his wife to death and wounded a son, Joseph, 19, on Aug. 9.

A military court at Kelly Air Force Base found him guilty Thursday of voluntary manslaughter and attempted manslaughter and set the sentence. The defense had argued that Herrington was temporarily insane at the time of the shooting.

Hudnell can reduce the sentence or dismiss it. He cannot increase the sentence.

A combat veteran who flew more than 40 missions in World War II and 30 in the Korean war, Herrington heard the conviction without any display of emotion. An hour and a half later he appeared stunned as the sentence was read.

Herrington now faces trial in a civilian court Feb. 25 .His civilian lawyer, James Gardner, said a trial in a state court for the same offenses would not violate legal provisions against double jeopardy—being tried twice for the same crime.

Aided by her son, Ricky, 15, Mrs. Mirkin picked up $1,338.50 worth of groceries. She tried to pick up something else, too, but the contest sponsor — WABC radio-said the cash register wasn't part of the deal.

Childs reported that residents have been getting more water the past week since some leaks have been found and repaired in various lines.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

You Should Delight In Your Child

Dr. Garry Meyers

Often in this column I've noted how we parents may enjoy the baby and young child as he gradually develops. Less often have I talked about enjoying the child, nine, 12 or 16. It's my guess that, as a rule, most parents have longer and more frequent periods of enjoyment with the baby and young child than with the youngster 12 or 16. With the older child, there may have been mutual conflicts and frustrations. This is not always so, however; in some instances, companionship and mutual enjoyments increase with the child's age. How wonderful it is when, as the child approaches and grows through adolescence, he and his parents have longer and more frequent periods when they live together almost as companionable adults.

FAVORABLE FOR attaining such a desirable relationship is the ability of the parents to treat their child as no younger a person than he is and to cultivate in him a wholesome respect and love for themselves.

About the most distressing type of letter I must read is one about constant strain in the parent-child relationship, when one wonders just how often the parents and child really do enjoy each other.

Usually it seems that the matter of reasonable control had never been worked out well by the parents, with the result that there hardly could be many long periods when the parent and child felt comfortable and happy toward each other, enjoying occasions of wholesome banter between them and periods when the parent and child conversed with pleasure and mused on such good times while away from each other.

As we parents sit and muse alone, or lie abed reflecting on the day, how wonderful when these musings and reflections predominate with happy feelings about our children.

TO THOSE WHO have many conflicts and angry words with their son or daughter, let me suggest that you parents, in private, talk over ways of dealing more successfully with the matters which have annoyed you so long and often — being more decisive with those you believe you can settle and more ready to accept some others as inevitable without letting them harass you so long and often. In the meanwhile, try to imagine how this child feels about such matters.

Most of all do try, my fellow parents, to talk together and think together of the rare, rich qualities in that child you usually have overlooked or taken for granted. Even write down some of them and enjoy them from memory together. Don't forget that he's a precious person.

You might even be able to resolve together to compliment this child honestly on some of his strengths. Maybe each of you parents from now on might, by listening eagerly and honestly, discover ways to encourage this child to talk more at meals and elsewhere in the family about matters close to his heart.

IF DAY BY DAY you can cause such pleasant occasions to happen oftener, just see what may be gained by all of you after a few weeks or months. In this direction would seem to lie greater mutual enjoyments by you and your child.

My bulletins, "Enjoying Our Children" and "A Parent's Prayer", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

President, Stevenson Shake Hands Warmly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson and President Kennedy, meeting in public for the first time since the tempest over the U.N. ambassador's role in the Cuban crisis, shook hands warmly Thursday night.

Stevenson, quick as ever with a quip, introduced Kennedy as "the author, producer, director and star of Mr. Khrushchev's new hit play in Moscow—'A Funny Thing Happened to Me on My Way to Cuba.' "

Stevenson said he was "proud to be a member of the supporting cast."

The occasion of their meeting was the Kennedy Foundation awards dinner where the President handed checks to four foreign scientists for work against mental retardation.

In the background were echoes of the clamor set off this week by a magazine article—co-authored by a close friend of the President—which portrayed Stevenson as having advocated a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

The article set off speculation that someone in the administration was "out to get Adlai." Apparently in an effort to still the talk, the President made public a letter Wednesday expressing his "fullest confidence" in Stevenson.

Stevenson remarked that the United Nations may soon be crying for peace "and I have been crying for it in the past week."

"But despite what has happened," Stevenson added, "I am convinced that most of the press of this country follows Joseph Pulitzer's remark that accuracy is to a newspaper what virtue is to a woman—except, as someone has pointed out, a newspaper can always print a retraction."

Stevenson previously had denounced the Saturday Evening Post article as inaccurate and a gross misrepresentation of his position.

The story, written by Washington newsmen Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close Kennedy friend, quoted anonymous but apparently high ranking officials as saying Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to set up a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a diplomatic approach.

In his talk Thursday night, Kennedy made no mention of the Cuban crisis.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

You Should Delight In Your Child

Often in this column I've noted how we parents may enjoy the baby and young child as he gradually develops. Less often have I talked about enjoying the child, nine, 12 or 16. It's my guess that, as a rule, most parents have longer and more frequent periods of enjoyment with the baby and young child than with the youngster 12 or 16. With the older child, there may have been mutual conflicts and frustrations. This is not always so, however; in some instances, companionship and mutual enjoyments increase with the child's age. How wonderful it is when, as the child approaches and grows through adolescence, he and his parents have longer and more frequent periods when they live together almost as companionable adults.

FAVORABLE FOR attaining such a desirable relationship is the ability of the parents to treat their child as no younger a person than he is and to cultivate in him a wholesome respect and love for themselves.

About the most distressing type of letter I must read is one about constant strain in the parent-child relationship, when one wonders just how often the parents and child really do enjoy each other.

Usually it seems that the matter of reasonable control had never been worked out well by the parents, with the result that there hardly could be many long periods when the parent and child felt comfortable and happy toward each other, enjoying occasions of wholesome banter between them and periods when the parent and child conversed with pleasure and mused on such good times while away from each other.

As we parents sit and muse alone, or lie abed reflecting on the day, how wonderful when these musings and reflections predominate with happy feelings about our children.

TO THOSE WHO have many conflicts and angry words with their son or daughter, let me suggest that you parents, in private, talk over ways of dealing more successfully with the matters which have annoyed you so long and often — being more decisive with those you believe you can settle and more ready to accept some others as inevitable without letting them harass you so long and often. In the meanwhile, try to imagine how this child feels about such matters.

Most of all do try, my fellow parents, to talk together and think together of the rare, rich qualities in that child you usually have overlooked or taken for granted. Even write down some of them and enjoy them from memory together. Don't forget that he's a precious person.

You might even be able to resolve together to compliment this child honestly on some of his strengths. Maybe each of you parents from now on might, by listening eagerly and honestly, discover ways to encourage this child to talk more at meals and elsewhere in the family about matters close to his heart.

IF DAY BY DAY you can cause such pleasant occasions to happen oftener, just see what may be gained by all of you after a few weeks or months. In this direction would seem to lie greater mutual enjoyments by you and your child.

My bulletins, "Enjoying Our Children" and "A Parent's Prayer", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

President, Stevenson Shake Hands Warmly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson and President Kennedy, meeting in public for the first time since the tempest over the U.N. ambassador's role in the Cuban crisis, shook hands warmly Thursday night.

Stevenson, quick as ever with a quip, introduced Kennedy as "the author, producer, director and star of Mr. Khrushchev's new hit play in Moscow—'A Funny Thing Happened to Me on My Way to Cuba.'"

Stevenson said he was "proud to be a member of the supporting cast."

The occasion of their meeting was the Kennedy Foundation awards dinner where the President handed checks to four foreign scientists for work against mental retardation.

In the background were echoes of the clamor set off this week by a magazine article—co-authored by a close friend of the President—which portrayed Stevenson as having advocated a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

The article set off speculation that someone in the administration was "out to get Adlai." Apparently in an effort to still the talk, the President made public a letter Wednesday expressing his "fullest confidence" in Stevenson.

Stevenson remarked that the United Nations may soon be cryng for peace "and I have been crying for it in the past week."

"But despite what has happened," Stevenson added, "I am convinced that most of the press of this country follows Joseph Pulitzer's remark that accuracy is to a newspaper what virtue is to a woman—except, as someone has pointed out, a newspaper can always print a retraction."

Stevenson previously had denounced the Saturday Evening Post article as inaccurate and a gross misrepresentation of his position.

The story, written by Washington newsmen Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close Kennedy friend, quoted anonymous but apparently high ranking officials as saying Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to set up a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a diplomatic approach.

New Philly-Dover Off List For Works Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New Philadelphia-Dover area in Tuscarawas County is one of seven removed from the list of those eligible for assistance under the Public Works Acceleration Act, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced today.

Under the Public Works Acceleration Act, the President is authorized to initiate and accelerate, in eligible areas, federal public works for which federal assistance has been authorized.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What is to become of the American female if some high-fashion nut decides we should all wear laundry bags?

I am appalled at the sheep instinct of the style-conscious woman. Everyone wants to look like the president's wife. Common sense and judgment is out. "The Look" is in.

Short, squatty women are drowned in bulky tweeds. The boot devours 5 inches of leg from the shortie who should try for the longer look. The giraffe type gets herself up in leopard spots and tiger stripes and looks 8 feet tall. Everyone wants plaid hair and green eyelids.

Why this craze for sameness? Are we becoming so neurotic we wish to lose our identity? Please explain. — OMNIBUS.

Dear Omnibus: There is no explanation for the way women get themselves up. And there never was. In the '90s females suffered tortures in boned corsets. They wore tons of hair, layers of underskirts and high-buttoned shoes.

Style satisfies the woman's need to be "in." In what, exactly, no one has been able to say.

Strange And Sad

Dear Ann: I read recently that you have received more than a half million letters. I'll bet this will be the strangest letter of all.

I'm the happiest woman in the world. My husband died last month. He finally drank himself to death.

The children no longer look at me with sad eyes and ask, "What's the matter with Daddy that makes him so mean?" I no longer have to lock myself and the little ones in the bedroom to protect us against their father's brutality and physical violence.

Can you imagine what it does to a 12-year-old boy to have to help undress a father who has passed out and drag him on to a bed?

I always have supported the family. How much easier it will be now with no liquor bills, jail fines and attorney's fees. On Thanksgiving I truly had something to be thankful for. — FREE AT LAST.

Dear Free: I would be hard-pressed to select the strangest letter I've ever received, but yours is surely one of the most heartbreaking. How sad when a father dies that there should be rejoicing.

Browbeaten Mother

Dear Ann: I suppose the solution to my problem has appeared in print some place but I've never seen it. It is a headache which many mothers must share and I admit I don't know how to cope with it.

What can I do to get my 9- and 11-year-old children away from the TV set? Their lessons go unfinished, books received last Christmas never have been opened. I can "holler" my head off and it does no good.

They watch everything and anything. Getting them to bed at night is a chore. I know they are not getting enough sleep on school nights.

Please give me some help. — HEAP O'TROUBLE.

Dear Heap: If the off and on buttons on your set don't work you always can pull the wall plug. TV viewing should be controlled, both in terms of hours spent and programs watched. You wouldn't allow your youngsters to eat garbage would you? Then why let them fill their heads with it?

TV has a great deal to offer children in the way of educational fare but there is still plenty of junk. Parents who permit their kids to look at anything and everything are derelict in their responsibilities.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Book At Library Tells Of Astronauts' Experiences

The pioneering experiences of all the astronauts are related by each member of the Mercury team in "We Seven," new book at the Carnegie Public Library.

Though this project has been well reported, this composite picture gives a great deal of background regarding training and experiments which had not been previously reported.

Though certain names in the field of rocketry have become very well known, Werner Von Braun, for example, the real father of rocketry remains virtually unknown to the general public. Robert H. Goddard was experimenting with liquid fuel rocket research in the period between 1929 and 1941.

Goddard died in 1945, but his wife, Esther, and G. Edward Pendray have edited his notes. The title of the book is "Rocket Development." Though Goddard started his tests at old Camp Devens in Massachussetts, he moved to Roswell, N. M., where he filmed many early events. Goddard first visualized his space ship when he was just 17 — perched in a tree in his grandmother's backyard. The year was 1909.

A host of additional books on the armed forces fill this week's new bookshelf. They include "The War in the Air," a pictorial history of World War II Air Forces in combat by Maj. Gene Gurney; "Strong Men Armed," the U. S. Marines against Japan, by Robert Leckie. The author was a scout and a machinegunner in the First Marine Division and this fierce epic should make any Leatherneck proud. The maritime services are represented by Warren Tute's "Atlantic Conquest" and "Superliner S. S. United States," by Henry Billings.

A trio of practical handbooks, which will help in many problems, is "You Ought to Patent That," by Stacy Jones; "How to Develop an Exceptional Memory," by Young and Gibson, and "Building or Buying the High Quality House at the Lowest Cost."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The heading of my draw curtains began to droop and drop over so badly that I did not think I could use them any longer. I thought . . . what could I do?

It dawned on me that I could put cardboard in them and it perhaps would help. I cut lightweight cardboard the length and width of the pleats and took one or two pieces and tucked them up in each pleat. Now the folds look like new. No more dropping at all!

M.D. SR.

GALS: This woman really has a bright idea.

Why waste our time removing our drapes, ripping them all apart and putting a new heading in?

This not only happens on older curtains but new ones also when our material is too heavy for the backing we buy to place in our heading.

The cardboard works beautifully.

If you are one who has washed or had your drapes dry cleaned and they are drooping (like all do sometimes!) take a piece of cardboard and push it in that heading and see how wonderful it is.

I suggest that you make the cardboard at least the height of the pleat plus an inch or or two. This way the cardboard touches the rod itself and holds the pleat straight up! Love,

HELOISE.

Decorating Time

DEAR FOLKS: Just a little personal note because so many of you inquire as to what I am doing right now.

I am barefoot, hair in rollers and no make-up. Today I got down the Christmas decorations. What a mess. No matter how carefully you think you put them away last year, it's still a job. I've been sitting on the floor trying to untangle the lights. . . and we're in luck. None of the bulbs is missing!

When I read your letters I only wish that I could look you right in the eye, squeeze your hand, give you a crinkled smile (I've got 'em there too!) and tell you how much I love you all. I am overwhelmed by the sweet letters you send.

So pour yourself that warmed over cup of coffee and pretend that I am there drinking it with you. I am in my own mind.

God bless each and every one of you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making roasts, instead of putting your slice of onion over it, take about half of a medium onion and put it in your blender with about a cup of water. This will make a good onion juice that you can pour over the meat, and this makes wonderful gravy, also.

I blend a couple of cloves of garlic the same way for my pork roasts. This not only adds a good flavor all through the meat but it is wonderful when you have someone who objects to the onion or garlic. They never see it! You can add more water as you need it.

AGNES JOSEPH.

DEAR HELOISE: In regard to stains on stainless steel:

At our church we keep a small cloth saturated with real butter in an ice box dish in the refrigerator. After cleaning the sinks with this cloth, we then take a dry cloth and polish them. This removes all of our stains and our sinks are still pretty.

MRS. FLOYD MIDDLETON.

DEAR HELOISE: For the member of the family, small or grown-up, who cannot swallow a pill or tablet, place it in a teaspoon of applecause and it's no trouble at all to swallow!

You, Heloise, would be surprised at the number of grown ups who cannot swallow a pill with a sip of water.

MRS. C. R. McCLURE

Who's surprised? You hit the nail on the head when you told me that one!

Radio Plan Aired By East Firemen

Radio communication needs for Liverpool Township firemen under a planned revised system were discussed by a representative of the General Electric Co. at a meeting of the Liverpool East department Wednesday night at Dixonville.

Township trustees and the clerk attended the meeting and plans to study the communication project further.

Seventeen attended the session with Jack Conley, president, in charge. Everett Vernacini was in charge of refreshments.

A Christmas party for firemen and auxiliary will be held Dec. 19 instead of Dec. 21 as planned. Officers will be elected at the meeting next Wednesday.

Republic Plans New Coal Operation Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — A new coal preparation plant, said to be the first of its kind in the country, will be put in operation early next year at Republic Steel Corp's Banning No. 4 mine at West Newton, Pa., the company announced today.

T. F. Patton, president of Republic, said the plant is the major unit in a $5 million improvement program at the firm's banning mine and represents the largest expenditure in a modernization program started six years ago in Republic's northern coal mines district. Including the banning improvements, approximately $14 million has been spent for modernization in the district since 1957, he said.

The new preparation plant will have a capacity to process 500 tons of coal per hour.

Cincinnati Concern Due State Building Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati construction firm of Frank Messer & Sons, Inc., has submitted the apparent low bid of $3,858,800 on the general contract for a seven-story State Highway Department office building. The state estimate was $3,388,500.

Ted J. Kauer, director of the State Public Works Department, said work is expected to start next month on the building, which will be located on the north side of the present state office building.

Another new building, on the south side of the state office building, is currently under construction. It will house the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Lew Worsham, former U. S. Open champion and pro at Oakmont in Pittsburgh, is the winter golf pro at Coral Ridge, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making roasts, instead of putting your slice of onion over it, take about half of a medium onion and put it in your blender with about a cup of water. This will make a good onion juice that you can pour over the meat, and this makes wonderful gravy, also.

I blend a couple of cloves of garlic the same way for my pork roasts. This not only adds a good flavor all through the meat but it is wonderful when you have someone who objects to the onion or garlic. They never see it! You can add more water as you need it.

AGNES JOSEPH.

DEAR HELOISE: In regard to stains on stainless steel:

At our church we keep a small cloth saturated with real butter in an ice box dish in the refrigerator. After cleaning the sinks with this cloth, we then take a dry cloth and polish them. This removes all of our stains and our sinks are still pretty.

MRS. FLOYD MIDDLETON.

DEAR HELOISE: For the member of the family, small or grown-up, who cannot swallow a pill or tablet, place it in a teaspoon of applecause and it's no trouble at all to swallow!

MRS. C. R. McCLURE

Who's surprised? You hit the nail on the head when you told me that one!

Republic Plans New Coal Operation Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — A new coal preparation plant, said to be the first of its kind in the country, will be put in operation early next year at Republic Steel Corp's Banning No. 4 mine at West Newton, Pa., the company announced today.

T. F. Patton, president of Republic, said the plant is the major unit in a $5 million improvement program at the firm's banning mine and represents the largest expenditure in a modernization program started six years ago in Republic's northern coal mines district. Including the banning improvements, approximately $14 million has been spent for modernization in the district since 1957, he said.

The new preparation plant will have a capacity to process 500 tons of coal per hour.

Aviators To Throw Gridders At Potters

Alliance will be one team that the East Liverpool Potters can look squarely in the eye. The squads, which meet Saturday night at Alliance are about the same size.

The reserve game will begin at 7, with the varsity encounter to follow about 8:30.

COACH Ron Peeling of the Aviators will start five players who were members of the football squad. The biggest is Lou Tosha, a husky 205-pounder who stands 6-foot-3. Tosha and Chet Bryant, who hits 6-foot-1, are the only two letter - winners on the squad.

Bryant was the Aviators' fine halfback this season who gained All-Ohio honors.

The two quarterbacks on the Aviator eleven — Doug Wade, a 6-footer, and Jim Dawson, 5-foot-10, also are slated for starting berths. Wade and Dawson are juniors.

Reports from Alliance say that Eric Taylor, a 6-foot-2 sophomore, is considered one of the best prospects there in sometime. He would be in the starting lineup for Saturday's game if it weren't for a sprained ankle which happened 10 days ago. Taylor is expected to see spot duty though Saturday night.

THE FIRST line substitutes are Larry Grimes, a senior, and Win Young, a junior. Grimes was the hard - running fullback in football and Young played halfback for Coach Mel Knowlton's team.

Alliance was scheduled to play Akron North tonight.

Coach Jim Harris of the Potters, who watched his team go down to defeat in an overtime battle at Midland last Saturday, said he will stick with the same starting five.

PRENTICE led the Potters in scoring at Midland, but the ELHS five had a very poor shooting night. Harris was especially disappointed in the performances of Cline and McComas.

After Saturday's game the Potters will play their first game at home next Friday against another Big 8 opponent — Warren— then travel to Wellsville Saturday.

Parade Of Booth Winners . . .

The dinner Saturday, Dec. 29 for the East Liverpool Potter football team will be more than just another gridiron banquet.

It will serve as a "homecoming" for the majority of those former Potter athletes who have won the Bill Booth Memorial Award in football. The affair also will mark the 25th anniversary of the award.

The idea was conceived by Frank Dawson, a real whiz at putting together banquets for the Blue and White Nonpareil Club which will sponsor the Dec. 29 fete.

There won't be a guest speaker, but Dawson plans to have all the Bill Booth winners speak for a few minutes, relating where they are and what they have been doing from the time they left the halls of ELHS.

Instead of a speaker, a topnotch master of ceremonies has agreed to come in from Syracuse, N. Y. for the affair, He is Jimmy Lowery, the well liked ex-sportcaster at WOHI, who has some fond memories of East Liverpool. Jimmy followed some of the finest Potter football and basketball teams during his time here.

Twenty-three Bill Booth winners have been contacted and most of them said they will be at the banquet. Ray Gochenour, who was the recipient of the 1942 award, was killed in action in Germany in 1945.

Dick Booth, a brother of Bill, who went on from East Liverpool to Western Reserve, then to the Detroit Lions, will be on hand to represent his brother. Dick now lives in Lakewood, Ohio.

Bill Booth was graduated from ELHS in 1934 and was expected to be one of the greatest halfbacks in the Big 10, but met an untimely death in an auto accident.

Where Are They Now . . .

WHERE are some of the Bill Booth winners now? Larry Bruno, the second recipient in 1939, is head coach at Beaver Falls High School where he won the WPIAL championship last season.

Warren Strub (1941) is living in Cuyahoga Falls; Chuck Means (1945) is a major in the Army and is stationed at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala.; Don Jackson (1946) is head football coach at Rossford, Ohio, where he completed his second winning season this past grid campaign; "Pistol Pete" McCullough (1948) is living at Orangeburg, N.Y.; Nick Trua, (1949) is in Warren, Ohio; Dan Skaleski (1950) lives in Fairless Hills, Pa.; Dan Cooper (1951) is a lieutenant in the Navy and presently attending school at Watertown, Mass.; Bob McCoy (1952) is a captain in the Army, serving in Japan, and he will be one Booth winner who won't be present Dec. 29.

Jack Doughty (1953) resides at Battle Creek, Mich. where he is in YMCA work; Jack Dopler (1956) lives in Colorado Springs, Colo., and it is doubtful he will be here; Jim Kapp (1957) is coaching football at Willard, Ohio, Nick Musuraca (1958) just completed his fourth season as a regular for Denison University; Bob Mackall (1959) is attending Northwestern University, and Joe Thompson (1960) attends Baldwin-Wallace College.

The other winners still reside in East Liverpool. This list includes Tom Taylor, who was the first Bill Booth winner in 1938; Chuck Deshler, Dick Smith, Lee Hyder, Tom Bell, Dale Mays, Jim Potts and Bill Burlingame.

The banquet will be held at St. Aloysius school and tickets at $3 are on sale at Burbick's Hardware and the Travelers Hotel.

Billy Conn Visits Town . . .

BILLY CONN, the guy who almost defeated Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship, was in town earlier this week and he has a lot of respect for Sonny Liston.

Asked about the rematch between Liston and Patterson, Conn said: "Liston will knock him out again. I said before the first fight that the first time Liston hit Patterson good the fight would be over. And that's just what happened."

Conn, a nice fellow out of the ring, was visiting friends who own horses and are racing at Waterford Park. He still lives in Pittsburgh.

Conn informed us that he did a television movie with Joe Louis in New York not too long ago and it will be released in a month or so. The story is about Louis and all his big fights. And the one with Conn was probably the biggest and toughest of his career.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL and North Hancock High, the new school at Pughtown, are scheduled to meet in basketball next season (1963-64). The Hancock County school will replace Youngstown East on the Potter schedule.

THE VMI wrestling team opens its season tonight against Davidson and a member of the squad is Tom Myers of East Liverpool, who is one of the returning lettermen. Tom will wrestle in the 157-pound division.

He was a fullback on the VMI football team and is just getting out for wrestling practice and probably will not participate in tonight's match.

Stewart Just Misses 700 Series By 2

Southpaw Chuck Stewart came within two pins of rolling his fourth 700 series when he turned in a 698 Thursday night in the Classic League at the Hawkland Alleys in Lisbon.

The veteran bowler, who claimed a 700 series last month, turned in games of 216, 257 and 225 last night. He is currently carrying a 194 average, good for third place in the league.

The team of George Simballa, Butch Wucherer, Kayle Reark, Cook and Stewart turned in a new team high single game last night of 1,061. Cook wound up with a 650 series.

East Jr. 8th Grade Registers Opening Victory

Tuttle Guides Last Chester Team

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

At a tournament game, probably some time in March, the final buzzer will sound and with it will end a long tenure of coaching at Chester High School for Max Tuttle, the dean of area basketball mentors.

Tuttle is in his 29th season of coaching and all have been spent at Chester. He will send his 29th club to the court in a unique afternoon basketball game with rival Newell on the Chester court Tuesday.

CHESTER, like New Cumberland and Newell, is in its final season, since the three schools will consolidate next year.

Tuttle and John Robison at Newell together have combined for more than 50 years of coaching in Hancock County.

In those 29 years, Chester has had outstanding seasons, whipping the top teams in the Ohio Valley and taking on the best at all times.

It has only been in the last few years that the Panthers have been taking their beatings. Under Tuttle, Chester always played out of its class, but held its own with the better teams in the area.

Dean Of District Coaches Launches 29th Season

TUTTLE has taught in Hancock County 33 years and at one time during the war coached football for five seasons.

The veteran coach will start the 1962-63 season with three lettermen, while another letter-winner from last year is not out for the sport.

The three veterans all seniors, are Jim Tridico, who stands 5-foot-11 and came up with several fine games last season during his junior year; Bob Myers, another 5-foot-11 cager, who can jump pretty well and does his share of rebounding, and Kelse Johnson, a 5-foot-9 outside man.

Jim Conkle, a 6-foot-2 letterman, is not out for basketball this season and Chuck Mullens who was being counted upon as a starter will be sidelined for the season with a knee injury.

TUTTLE has chosen the other two starters for Tuesday's opener. They will be Ed Clunk, a 5-foot-10 junior, while Tom Smusz, a sophomore, has cracked the starting five.

The main problem at Chester is height. And on top of that Tuttle's first - line reserves will be inexperienced, since he has four sophomores and only one senior to back up the first five.

Tuttle pointed out he has a good group of sophomores on hand in John Brand and Mike Dotson, a couple of six-footers, along with Mel Hobbs and Dave Reiber. The senior is Tom Ash.

LOST FROM last season, which was a losing campaign for the Panthers, were Blaine Pinney, now a member of the Wheeling College team, Keith Sayre, Jerry Smith and Bill Yoakum.

On the 1962-63 schedule, Chester will meet Newell four times this season. Two games will be in the afternoon, the first at Chester beginning at 2:30 Tuesday and the final game of the season Feb. 26 at Newell, with tipoff time 4 p. m.

Tresh Is Top AL Rookie; Bernie Allen Given Vote

Los Angeles Angels' catcher Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another Yankee march to baseball supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop, then moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch-hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49.

The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth World Series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.

John DeBergh and Rein Clabbers, soccer players at Michigan State, were co-captains at Our Lady of Lake High School in Sparta, N. J.

It has only been in the last few years that the Panthers have been taking their beatings. Under Tuttle, Chester always played out of its class, but held its own with the better teams in the area.

The three veterans all seniors, are Jim Tridico, who stands 5-foot-11 and came up with several fine games last season during his junior year; Bob Myers, another 5-foot-11 cager, who can jump pretty well and does his share of rebounding, and Kelse Johnson, a 5-foot-9 outside man.

Jim Conkle, a 6-foot-2 letterman, is not out for basketball this season and Chuck Mullens who was being counted upon as a starter will be sidelined for the season with a knee injury.

TUTTLE has chosen the other two starters for Tuesday's opener. They will be Ed Clunk, a 5-foot-10 junior, while Tom Smusz, a sophomore, has cracked the starting five.

The main problem at Chester is height. And on top of that Tuttle's first - line reserves will be inexperienced, since he has four sophomores and only one senior to back up the first five.

Tuttle pointed out he has a good group of sophomores on hand in John Brand and Mike Dotson, a couple of six-footers, along with Mel Hobbs and Dave Reiber. The senior is Tom Ash.

LOST FROM last season, which was a losing campaign for the Panthers, were Blaine Pinney, now a member of the Wheeling College team, Keith Sayre, Jerry Smith and Bill Yoakum.

On the 1962-63 schedule, Chester will meet Newell four times this season. Two games will be in the afternoon, the first at Chester beginning at 2:30 Tuesday and the final game of the season Feb. 26 at Newell, with tipoff time 4 p. m.

Dec. 20	South Side	Away

A picture of versatility in all he undertook, Tresh drew the votes of 13 of the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who were on the selection committee.

Los Angeles Angels' catcher Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another Yankee march to baseball supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop, then moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch-hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49.

The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth World Series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.

John DeBergh and Rein Clabbers, soccer players at Michigan State, were co-captains at Our Lady of Lake High School in Sparta, N. J.

3 Indicted In Texas For Fixing Games

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three men were indicted by the Travis County Grand Jury Thursday for contempt of the legislature — the first such indictments in a decade. All involved point-fixing in basketball.

They are M. C. Pearson of Austin, E. D. (Sig) Dickson of Dallas and M. D. (Duck) Mallard of Bryan.

Pearson took the Fifth Amendment 44 times at the same hearing in refusing to answer committee questions about his business, whether he was a bookmaker and whether he held a U.S. wagering stamp.

Mallard refused 125 times at a May 25 Waco hearing to answer questions about his alleged bookmaking operations. The grand jury said all three are accused of contempt for refusing to answer questions "pertinent to the matter under inquiry."

On conviction, contempt of the legislature is punishable by fine of $100 to $1,000 and by a jail term of 30 days to 12 months. It is classed as a misdemeanor.

Walker Leads Westgate To 34-20 Margin

Len Walker scored the first eight points for the Wildcats and wound up as the game's top scorer with 12. Chuck Winters found the range for nine points while Jerry Vaughn added eight and Mike McFarland five.

Newest Pro Takes Lead In Florida

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

That's the way Al Kelley, playing his first PGA tournament, said he took the first round lead over 148 more seasoned pros and 10 amateurs in the 72-hole, $20,000 Coral Gables Open Golf Tournament.

Going into today's second round, Kelley, born in Akron, Ohio, and playing out of Coral Gables, held a one-stroke lead over Dave Ragan, with whom he grew up in Orlando, Fla.

Going into the tournament, the former Air Force flier discarded a new putter and went back to one he has used since 1959.

The 6 foot, 160-pound two-time Florida amateur champion scored seven birdies in his 32-33 effort. He bogeyed the 15th, when he bucked wind gusts.

Knicks Surprise Cincinnati Five

By The Associated Press

New York's new-look Knicks may not be going anywhere in the National Basketball Association chase, but they give indications of turning spoiler.

That was the role they took Thursday night, knocking off Cincinnati 99-96 and foiling a Royal bid to move past idle Syracuse into second place in the Eastern Division.

Packer Win Would Clinch Tie In Western Division

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the New York Giants firmly tucked away as the National Football League's Eastern Conference champions for the second straight year, the Western title and a frantic scramble to determine the second-place finisher in the East occupy this weekend's attention.

The Washington Redskins, at the break-even point of 5-5-2 after their fine start, make a do-or-die bid for second in the East Saturday afternoon in Baltimore against the Colts, in a nationally televised game (CBS). A victory would keep them in the running with Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Dallas, all aiming at a spot in the Playoff Bowl at Miami Jan. 5 against the Western runner-up.

Green Bay can clinch a tie for its third consecutive Western Conference title by beating San Francisco Sunday on the West Coast. A Packer victory plus an upset of Detroit by the Minnesota Vikings would make the Packers champs. Otherwise, the title won't be decided until next Sunday's wind-up when Green Bay takes on the Los Angeles Rams and Detroit plays rugged Chicago. The Bears host the Rams this Sunday.

This week's selections (last week 7 correct, 4 wrong; season total, 78 correct, 43 wrong, 5 ties):

NFL

Green Bay over San Francisco—Powerful Packers want to wrap up the Western title on their own. San Francisco offense no mystery to Green Bay's rugged defense.

Detroit over Minnesota—Lions had close call against Vikings three weeks ago, but bail-out artist Earl Morrall came to rescue, and he did it again last week.

New York over Cleveland—Even if Giants do ease off and use their reserves, Browns' inconsistent attack led by Frank Ryan and fullback Jimmy Brown, doesn't carry the Y.A. Tittle-Alex Webster sting.

Baltimore over Washington—Johnny Unitas' receivers, Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr, and Colt runners Mark Smolinski and Lenny Moore, too much for Redskins, and Washington quarterback Norm Snead has very little left in way of running help.

Dallas over St. Louis—Cowboys' 1-2 quarterback punch of Don Meredith and Eddie LeBaron healty again while the poor Cards could use either one in their attack.

Los Angeles over Chicago—Rams have received the quarterbacking they needed from rookie Roman Gabriel and he and his mates may find the Bears a little down after last week's tough loss to New York.

Judge Defers Sentence For Admitted Bribers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — With the understanding they face stiff prison terms elsewhere, Judge Heman Clark deferred sentencing Thursday of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Green, two New Yorkers who pleaded guilty to college basketball fix charges.

The two who admitted their roles as contacts and pay-off men, turned state's evidence and offered crucial testimony against Dave Goldberg and Steve Lekometros, St. Louis men convicted of being financial backers in the scandal.

"It's very rare," said Judge Clark in Wake Superior Court, "that the prosecution is as successful in reaching as high up the ladder as to the people that furnish the money."

Solicitor Lester Chalmers told the judge the state would never have been able to bring Goldberg and Lekometros to trial without the testimony of Green and Wagman.

Wagman already is under a five year sentence in Florida. He faces five to 10 years in New York. A warrant has been issued for him in Philadelphia. Green has pleaded guilty to charges in New York which could land him a 10 to 20 year term.

Goldberg, 46, and Lekometros, 39, each received five-year terms and stiff fines for supplying the money used to influence North Carolina State College players in eight games.

NFL Playoff Tickets At Big Demand

That may be the only way they can see it.

Tickets haven't gone on sale yet, and already it looks like it might have been easier to snag a pair of seats on Noah's Ark than for Yankee Stadium for the Dec. 30 game between the New York Giants and the Western Division winner.

Hundreds of New York fans have reported they plan to travel to areas where the game will be shown on television. It is blacked out for a 75-mile area around New York.

Some 45,000 season ticket holders get the first call on seats. The rest are limited to four to a buyer, who must call in person to get them.

Heads Committee

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank St. Vincent, superintendent of the Interlake Iron Corp. at Beverly, is the new executive committee chairman of the iron and steel division in the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum engineers. He was elected Thursday.

Rens Move Into Second

Late scoring bursts by Charley Tyra and Connie Hawkins won Thursday night's game and booted the Rens' record to 6-3 for a percentage point lead over the third place Kansas City Steers.

In the only other ABL action, Philadelphia won its third straight edging Oakland, 82-80.

3 Indicted In Texas For Fixing Games

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three men were indicted by the Travis County Grand Jury Thursday for contempt of the legislature — the first such indictments in a decade. All involved point-fixing in basketball.

They are M. C. Pearson of Austin, E. D. (Sig) Dickson of Dallas and M. D. (Duck) Mallard of Bryan.

The cases stem from hearings last summer by the Texas House General Investigating Committee on alleged point-shaving in Southwest Conference basketball games.

Dickson refused 292 times at a July 13 hearing in Austin to answer questions concerning alleged bookmaking and point-fixing in SWC basketball games.

Pearson took the Fifth Amendment 44 times at the same hearing in refusing to answer committee questions about his business, whether he was a bookmaker and whether he held a U.S. wagering stamp.

Mallard refused 125 times at a May 25 Waco hearing to answer questions about his alleged bookmaking operations. The grand jury said all three are accused of contempt for refusing to answer questions "pertinent to the matter under inquiry."

On conviction, contempt of the legislature is punishable by fine of $100 to $1,000 and by a jail term of 30 days to 12 months. It is classed as a misdemeanor.

Walker Leads Westgate To 34-20 Margin

Westgate's basketball forces opened the season with a 34-20 victory at East Palestine Thursday afternoon.

Len Walker scored the first eight points for the Wildcats and wound up as the game's top scorer with 12. Chuck Winters found the range for nine points while Jerry Vaughn added eight and Mike McFarland five.

Coach Dan Fisher's squad took a 6-4 lead at the end of the first period, led at halftime 18-6 and was on top at the end of the third quarter, 31-12.

Newest Pro Takes Lead In Florida

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

That's the way Al Kelley, playing his first PGA tournament, said he took the first round lead over 148 more seasoned pros and 10 amateurs in the 72-hole, $20,000 Coral Gables Open Golf Tournament.

Going into today's second round, Kelley, born in Akron, Ohio, and playing out of Coral Gables, held a one-stroke lead over Dave Ragan, with whom he grew up in Orlando, Fla.

Going into the tournament, the former Air Force flier discarded a new putter and went back to one he has used since 1959.

The 6 foot, 160-pound two-time Florida amateur champion scored seven birdies in his 32-33 effort. He bogeyed the 15th, when he bucked wind gusts.

Thirty-three pros outdid par 71 on the 6,563-yard Biltmore layout.

Knicks Surprise Cincinnati Five

By The Associated Press

New York's new-look Knicks may not be going anywhere in the National Basketball Association chase, but they give indications of turning spoiler.

That was the role they took Thursday night, knocking off Cincinnati 99-96 and foiling a Royal bid to move past idle Syracuse into second place in the Eastern Division.

Chicago whipped St. Louis 106-93 in the only other game on schedule, the Zephyrs climbing out of the Western cellar and knocking second place St. Louis 1½ games off Los Angeles leading pace.

Packer Win Would Clinch Tie In Western Division

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the New York Giants firmly tucked away as the National Football League's Eastern Conference champions for the second straight year, the Western title and a frantic scramble to determine the second-place finisher in the East occupy this weekend's attention.

The Washington Redskins, at the break-even point of 5-5-2 after their fine start, make a do-or-die bid for second in the East Saturday afternoon in Baltimore against the Colts, in a nationally televised game (CBS). A victory would keep them in the running with Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Dallas, all aiming at a spot in the Playoff Bowl at Miami Jan. 5 against the Western runner-up.

Green Bay can clinch a tie for its third consecutive Western Conference title by beating San Francisco Sunday on the West Coast. A Packer victory plus an upset of Detroit by the Minnesota Vikings would make the Packers champs. Otherwise, the title won't be decided until next Sunday's wind-up when Green Bay takes on the Los Angeles Rams and Detroit plays rugged Chicago. The Bears host the Rams this Sunday.

This week's selections (last week 7 correct, 4 wrong; season total, 78 correct, 43 wrong, 5 ties):

NFL

Green Bay over San Francisco—Powerful Packers want to wrap up the Western title on their own. San Francisco offense no mystery to Green Bay's rugged defense.

Detroit over Minnesota—Lions had close call against Vikings three weeks ago, but bail-out artist Earl Morrall came to rescue, and he did it again last week.

New York over Cleveland—Even if Giants do ease off and use their reserves, Browns' inconsistent attack led by Frank Ryan and fullback Jimmy Brown, doesn't carry the Y.A. Tittle-Alex Webster sting.

Philadelphia over Pittsburgh—Eagles on beam with Pete Retzlaff back to catch Sonny Jurgensen's passes. Steelers' defense can't do it all and its offense is battered.

Baltimore over Washington—Johnny Unitas' receivers, Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr, and Colt runners Mark Smolinski and Lenny Moore, too much for Redskins, and Washington quarterback Norm Snead has very little left in way of running help.

Dallas over St. Louis—Cowboys' 1-2 quarterback punch of Don Meredith and Eddie LeBaron healty again while the poor Cards could use either one in their attack.

Los Angeles over Chicago—Rams have received the quarterbacking they needed from rookie Roman Gabriel and he and his mates may find the Bears a little down after last week's tough loss to New York.

Judge Defers Sentence For Admitted Bribers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — With the understanding they face stiff prison terms elsewhere, Judge Heman Clark deferred sentencing Thursday of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Green, two New Yorkers who pleaded guilty to college basketball fix charges.

The two who admitted their roles as contacts and pay-off men, turned state's evidence and offered crucial testimony against Dave Goldberg and Steve Lekometros, St. Louis men convicted of being financial backers in the scandal.

"It's very rare," said Judge Clark in Wake Superior Court, "that the prosecution is as successful in reaching as high up the ladder as to the people that furnish the money."

Solicitor Lester Chalmers told the judge the state would never have been able to bring Goldberg and Lekometros to trial without the testimony of Green and Wagman.

Judge Clark gave Paul Walker, another New Yorker who pleaded guilty to similar bribery charges, 18 months in prison.

Wagman already is under a five year sentence in Florida. He faces five to 10 years in New York. A warrant has been issued for him in Philadelphia. Green has pleaded guilty to charges in New York which could land him a 10 to 20 year term.

Goldberg, 46, and Lekometros, 39, each received five-year terms and stiff fines for supplying the money used to influence North Carolina State College players in eight games.

Rens Move Into Second

The Pittsburgh Rens, taking advantage of their home court while they could, whipped the Chicago Majors Thursday night 107-103 and grabbed second place in the American Basketball League.

Late scoring bursts by Charley Tyra and Connie Hawkins won Thursday night's game and booted the Rens' record to 6-3 for a percentage point lead over the third place Kansas City Steers.

In the only other ABL action, Philadelphia won its third straight edging Oakland, 82-80.

NFL Playoff Tickets At Big Demand

That may be the only way they can see it.

Tickets haven't gone on sale yet, and already it looks like it might have been easier to snag a pair of seats on Noah's Ark than for Yankee Stadium for the Dec. 30 game between the New York Giants and the Western Division winner.

Hundreds of New York fans have reported they plan to travel to areas where the game will be shown on television. It is blacked out for a 75-mile area around New York.

Some 45,000 season ticket holders get the first call on seats. The rest are limited to four to a buyer, who must call in person to get them.

Heads Committee

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank St. Vincent, superintendent of the Interlake Iron Corp. at Beverly, is the new executive committee chairman of the iron and steel division in the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum engineers. He was elected Thursday.

That Isn't Confetti Blowing Around NBC

The mail has hit the fan at NBC. Thousands of letters protesting the network's Jan. 28 cancelation of "It's a Man's World" already have accumulated at NBC's Rockefeller Center headquarters in New York.

Hal Humphrey

It is the fastest public mail response to a program cancelation ever witnessed, according to an NBC official who prefers to remain anonymous. And the peak of this mail is not expected for another week yet.

But NBC's executive vice president, Walter D. Scott, will try to pretend that it really isn't mail at all—just fallout from an old Broadway ticker tape parade.

"I DON'T CARE if we get two million letters," Scott is reported to have said, "The decision to cancel 'Man's World' is irrevocable."

Now there is a typical reactionary attitude of a man on a limb, who would rather saw it off than crawl back in and take another look at the situation.

If Scott should get two million letters (and it is not impossible), then refuse to reconsider this decision, he ought to be hailed before Newton Minow's FCC and asked a few questions.

I tried to get through to the besieged Scott early this week, but was told that he was too involved with NBC's convention of affiliated station managers to answer my questions.

THE NBC press relations man in New York suggested I submit my questions in writing. The late Premier Stalin used to have American newspaper correspondents do this, but I thought the practice had died out. I was wrong. I'm now waiting patiently for my answers.

Naturally, I've asked Vice President Scott how he would find it possible to ignore two million letters—or even one million?

Secondly, I want to know how he and his colleagues at NBC could reconcile their decision on the basis of one Nielsen rating taken after only four episodes of "Man's World" were on the air?

Late last week, Scott announced that the Monday time slots to be vacated by "Man's World" and "Saints and Sinners" (also canceled) are to be filled on Feb. 4 with 1957 and 1958 vintage 20th Century-Fox movies.

ONE WONDERS now why Scott and NBC didn't start out the season with these movies. Why bother to let creative TV producers like Peter Tewksbury ("Man's World") or Adrian Spies ("Saints and Sinners") conceive series for TV if the networks isn't prepared to allow them enough time to build an audience?

If old movies are to be the solution, then perhaps TV is what a few hard-headed movie studio chiefs predicted it was—just an extension of movie theaters into the living rooms of America.

That being the case, why don't the networks quit pretending they have placed a new medium of entertainment and education on the American scene?

THE TRADE PAPER Variety has pointed out that NBC is paying "around $100,000" for each of these old movies, and that if it sells out the two hours to 12 sponsors at $20,000 a minute (for spot commercials), this adds up to $240,000, or $140,000 profit.

This is more profit, according to Variety, than NBC can make from sale of an hour drama series produced for TV.

It appears to be a clear case of NBC executives' taking the easy way out. Relying on their own ingenuity and judgment is risky and nerve wracking.

Ohio Guardsmen Will Stage Map War In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although it has been 21 years since Pearl Harbor, Columbus will be in the midst of another war this weekend—a battle involving about 900 officers and men of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division.

The National Guardsmen from all over the state will converge on the capital city Saturday for a continuous 24 - hour map war—reported to be the first such exercise ever conducted by a reserve component division.

Using its top staff officers, the 37th will split into two mythical divisions which will wage a battle against each other all Saturday night.

Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, commander of the 37th, will direct the entire operation with the assistant 37th commander, Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Eagon, commanding one of the mythical divisions and Brig. Gen. Wilbur Fricke of Waynesburg, the division artillery commander, in charge of the other group.

Police Chief Posts Bond In Assault Case

Wyatt posted $700 bond Thursday for a hearing on charges by Mrs. Ruby Clark and her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Miller, 17.

Chief Wyatt said the two women attempted to flee after he placed them under arrest for disorderly conduct.

Nature Can Help Dieter Resume Reducing

How can a dieter "jolt" off the last 20 surplus pounds that cling stubbornly? A reducer who has succeeded in losing 55 pounds, still has 20 to go.

Ida Jean Kain

Discouraged because the pointer on the scales bas not budged for five long weeks, she feels desperate. She asks if she should cut calories still lower.

There are a number of reasons why it is not a good plan to cut calories too drastically. With prolonged dieting, one can strike the law of diminishing returns with regard to calorie burning . . . sloth sets in when you feel too undernourished and as a result you automatically spend even less energy than before.

THE IMPORTANT reason for not cutting too low is that the way foods are built it takes a certain number of calories to furnish the protective nutrients necessary to safeguard health.

A better plan for the long-term dieter is to look for ways to work with nature. Food is burned for fuel in accordance with the demand of muscles for energy. Instead of just trying to cut down on calorie intake, exercise to step up calorie burning.

On the nutrition score: Whatever is eaten in excess of immediate needs is stored for future use. Our custom of eating the big meal at the end of the day is peculiarly at variance with the way our bodies are basically organized to use food.

When we overeat at the evening meal, what happens to the excess fuel? The carbohydrates are stored as glycogen in the liver and some in the muscles. The body's storage capacity for glycogen is quite small therefore any excess is converted into fat. In the same fashion, food fat which is not required for immediate fuel, is also stored.

With protein the story is not quite the same. It is known that protein has a stimulating effect on metabolic processes. More important, a specific amount of protein is required for building and repairing the body tissues at all times.

Studies have shown that many overweight individuals tend to overeat at dinner. Aside from the fact that this is the least active part of the day, there is another, less understood factor which makes overeating at dinner extra fattening.

When too much food is consumed at one time, the body is not able to cope with the overload through its conventional channels of burning food for energy. So, nature switches over to another way of using the excess fuel. In this process which utilizes different chemical pathways, fat is built up as a by-product.

TO TAKE advantage of the way nature burns fuel, eat three moderate meals a day. You will be the winner if, in addition, you step up calorie burning with some physical activity. Muscular activity increases calorie burning more than any single factor.

Northeast Ohio Blue Cross Asks 25.9% Rate Increase

CLEVELAND (AP)—Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio says it is asking the State Department of Insurance to approve rate increases averaging 25.9 per cent. Increasing hospital costs were cited as the reason for the request.

John R. Mannix, executive vice president, said with increasing hospital costs Blue Cross has been "operating at a loss for most of this year, so we are hopeful that we can have an early decision by the Insurance Department."

He traced the higher hospital costs to "adjustments in the pay of hospital employes. About three-fourths of the increase in hospital costs per day can be traced to this factor," Mannix declared.

As an example of what the new rates would be Mannix cited the single person rate under the group contract covering 120 days of semi-private hospital care — the most common Blue Cross group contract. This rate would go from the present $6.40 to $7.80 in the "standard cost" area—Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Lorain, Medina, Portage and Summit counties.

In the area designated low cost — Ashtabula, Ashland, Richland and Wayne counties and Willard in Huron County—the rate would go from $5.30 to $6.25.

At the same time as the Blue Cross rates change, rates and coverage for Medical Mutual of Cleveland, a companion organization serving five counties, also will be revised.

3 Cleveland Officers Cited In Thefts Quit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of the five Cleveland policemen charged in a series of thefts have resigned from the force. All five were to be arraigned in Municipal Court today.

Resignations from Henry Wankowski and Raymond Olle, both 28, were accepted Thursday by Police Chief Frank Story. William Marlowe, 40, resigned shortly after his arrest early this week.

Marlowe, a veteran of 11 years on the force, was described by Story as the ringleader in a series of thefts that netted some $3,000 over an 18-month period. He admitted the thefts and implicated 10 other policemen, the chief said.

Others charged with Marlowe, Wankowski and Olle are Joe Kish, 35, and Carl Krist, 41:

Five of those named by Marlowe have been released, but one man still is being questioned as the investigation continued under the direction of Safety Director John N. McCormick.

Wankowski, Kish, Krist and Marlowe are charged with grand larceny in the theft of $400 from the Brookpark Gulf service station June 21, 1961. Marlowe and Olle are charged with the theft of a safe containing $40 from the Yankee Distributing Co. last June 11.

The occupations which are "hardest on the eyes" according to recent findings are stenographers, teachers, draftsmen, physicians, dentists, clergymen, lawyers, jewelry and watchmakers, tailors, barbers and engravers.

Ohio Guardsmen Will Stage Map War In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although it has been 21 years since Pearl Harbor, Columbus will be in the midst of another war this weekend—a battle involving about 900 officers and men of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division.

The National Guardsmen from all over the state will converge on the capital city Saturday for a continuous 24-hour map war—reported to be the first such exercise ever conducted by a reserve component division.

Using its top staff officers, the 37th will split into two mythical divisions which will wage a battle against each other all Saturday night.

The exercise will utilize all three National Guard installations here.

Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, commander of the 37th, will direct the entire operation with the assistant 37th commander, Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Eagon, commanding one of the mythical divisions and Brig. Gen. Wilbur Fricke of Waynesburg, the division artillery commander, in charge of the other group.

Police Chief Posts Bond In Assault Case

Wyatt posted $700 bond Thursday for a hearing on charges by Mrs. Ruby Clark and her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Miller, 17.

Chief Wyatt said the two women attempted to flee after he placed them under arrest for disorderly conduct.

Nature Can Help Dieter Resume Reducing

How can a dieter "jolt" off the last 20 surplus pounds that cling stubbornly? A reducer who has succeeded in losing 55 pounds, still has 20 to go.

Ida Jean Kain

Discouraged because the pointer on the scales has not budged for five long weeks, she feels desperate. She asks if she should cut calories still lower.

There are a number of reasons why it is not a good plan to cut calories too drastically. With prolonged dieting, one can strike the law of diminishing returns with regard to calorie burning . . . sloth sets in when you feel too undernourished and as a result you automatically spend even less energy than before.

Calorie burning is the result of energy expended, so semi-starvation defeats your purpose.

THE IMPORTANT reason for not cutting too low is that the way foods are built it takes a certain number of calories to furnish the protective nutrients necessary to safeguard health.

A better plan for the long-term dieter is to look for ways to work with nature. Food is burned for fuel in accordance with the demand of muscles for energy. Instead of just trying to cut down on calorie intake, exercise to step up calorie burning.

On the nutrition score: Whatever is eaten in excess of immediate needs is stored for future use. Our custom of eating the big meal at the end of the day is peculiarly at variance with the way our bodies are basically organized to use food.

When we overeat at the evening meal, what happens to the excess fuel? The carbohydrates are stored as glycogen in the liver and some in the muscles. The body's storage capacity for glycogen is quite small therefore any excess is converted into fat. In the same fashion, food fat which is not required for immediate fuel, is also stored.

With protein the story is not quite the same. It is known that protein has a stimulating effect on metabolic processes. More important, a specific amount of protein is required for building and repairing the body tissues at all times.

Studies have shown that many overweight individuals tend to overeat at dinner. Aside from the fact that this is the least active part of the day, there is another, less understood factor which makes overeating at dinner extra fattening.

When too much food is consumed at one time, the body is not able to cope with the overload through its conventional channels of burning food for energy. So, nature switches over to another way of using the excess fuel. In this process which utilizes different chemical pathways, fat is built up as a by-product.

TO TAKE advantage of the way nature burns fuel, eat three moderate meals a day. You will be the winner if, in addition, you step up calorie burning with some physical activity. Muscular activity increases calorie burning more than any single factor.

Northeast Ohio Blue Cross Asks 25.9% Rate Increase

CLEVELAND (AP)—Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio says it is asking the State Department of Insurance to approve rate increases averaging 25.9 per cent. Increasing hospital costs were cited as the reason for the request.

John R. Mannix, executive vice president, said with increasing hospital costs Blue Cross has been "operating at a loss for most of this year, so we are hopeful that we can have an early decision by the Insurance Department."

He traced the higher hospital costs to "adjustments in the pay of hospital employes. About three-fourths of the increase in hospital costs per day can be traced to this factor," Mannix declared.

If the request is approved soon, the new rates would go into effect March 1, Mannix said.

As an example of what the new rates would be Mannix cited the single person rate under the group contract covering 120 days of semi-private hospital care — the most common Blue Cross group contract. This rate would go from the present $6.40 to $7.80 in the "standard cost" area—Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Lorain, Medina, Portage and Summit counties.

In the area designated low cost — Ashtabula, Ashland, Richland and Wayne counties and Willard in Huron County—the rate would go from $5.30 to $6.25.

At the same time as the Blue Cross rates change, rates and coverage for Medical Mutual of Cleveland, a companion organization serving five counties, also will be revised.

3 Cleveland Officers Cited In Thefts Quit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of the five Cleveland policemen charged in a series of thefts have resigned from the force. All five were to be arraigned in Municipal Court today.

Resignations from Henry Wankowski and Raymond Olle, both 28, were accepted Thursday by Police Chief Frank Story. William Marlowe, 40, resigned shortly after his arrest early this week.

Marlowe, a veteran of 11 years on the force, was described by Story as the ringleader in a series of thefts that netted some $3,000 over an 18-month period. He admitted the thefts and implicated 10 other policemen, the chief said.

Others charged with Marlowe, Wankowski and Olle are Joe Kish, 35, and Carl Krist, 41.

Five of those named by Marlowe have been released, but one man still is being questioned as the investigation continued under the direction of Safety Director John N. McCormick.

Wankowski, Kish, Krist and Marlowe are charged with grand larceny in the theft of $400 from the Brookpark Gulf service station June 21, 1961. Marlowe and Olle are charged with the theft of a safe containing $40 from the Yankee Distributing Co. last June 11.

The occupations which are "hardest on the eyes" according to recent findings are stenographers, teachers, draftsmen, physicians, dentists, clergymen, lawyers, jewelry and watchmakers, tailors, barbers and engravers.

Soviet Troop Pullout From Cuba Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities expect the Soviet Union to withdraw thousands of troops from Cuba now that Red bombers and missiles have been pulled from the island.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 9,000 to 15,000 Soviet troops in Cuba. Many were assigned to install and man the offensive weapons.

The Pentagon said Thursday Navy patrol planes had counted 42 bombers aboard Soviet ships outbound from Cuba.

Nearly a month ago, the U S Navy counted 42 Soviet missiles on their way out. U.S. authorities said they know of none remaining in Cuba.

They said U.S. negotiators will press in discussions with Soviet representatives in New York for removal of the Soviet troops. The Soviet Union, the authorities said, is expected to pull the men out.

It was understood Premier Khrushchev informed President Kennedy last month that Russian ground troops associated with the weapons would be withdrawn.

At his last news conference, Nov. 20, Kennedy said "a number of Soviet ground combat units" were in Cuba. "We are informed," he added, "that these and other Soviet units were associated with the protection of offensive weapons systems and will also be withdrawn in due course."

Some of the Soviet troops were said to have been used to protect the missile site positions and to man the estimated two dozen antiaircraft missile installations that U.S. experts believe the Soviets set up to defend their offensive weapons complex.

The antiaircraft installations feature 20 to 25-mile range surface-to-air missiles. Washington wants these dismantled, too, though there is no current report the Soviets are doing so.

So far, officials said, several hundred Soviet soldiers have been seen aboard ships leaving Cuba. A large-scale troop withdrawal, U.S. strategists believe, would not only weaken the Kremlin hold on Cuba, but lessen the chance of a U.S.-Soviet clash should the United States decide to move against Cuba in the future.

Prospects of a formal diplomatic accord growing out of the New York negotiations appear nil. Kennedy is opposed to giving the formal no-invasion pledge which Khrushchev wants until there is effective international inspection of Cuba, which the Reds refuse.

United Arab Republic Lifts Ban On Twist

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic has lifted its ban on the twist and twist records.

The government announcement Thursday said "freedom of the arts" is replacing "censorship in the arts."

The government more than a year ago imposed an official ban on the American dance on account of its "demoralizing effect on those who dance it."

Soviet Troop Pullout From Cuba Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities expect the Soviet Union to withdraw thousands of troops from Cuba now that Red bombers and missiles have been pulled from the island.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 9,000 to 15,000 Soviet troops in Cuba. Many were assigned to install and man the offensive weapons.

The Pentagon said Thursday Navy patrol planes had counted 42 bombers aboard Soviet ships outbound from Cuba.

Nearly a month ago, the U S Navy counted 42 Soviet missiles on their way out. U.S. authorities said they know of none remaining in Cuba.

They said U.S. negotiators will press in discussions with Soviet representatives in New York for removal of the Soviet troops. The Soviet Union, the authorities said, is expected to pull the men out.

It was understood Premier Khruschev informed President Kennedy last month that Russian ground troops associated with the weapons would be withdrawn.

At his last news conference, Nov. 20, Kennedy said "a number of Soviet ground combat units" were in Cuba. "We are informed," he added, "that these and other Soviet units were associated with the protection of offensive weapons systems and will also be withdrawn in due course."

Some of the Soviet troops were said to have been used to protect the missile site positions and to man the estimated two dozen antiaircraft missile installations that U.S. experts believe the Soviets set up to defend their offensive weapons complex.

The antiaircraft installations feature 20 to 25-mile range surface-to-air missiles. Washington wants these dismantled, too, though there is no current report the Soviets are doing so.

So far, officials said, several hundred Soviet soldiers have been seen aboard ships leaving Cuba. A large-scale troop withdrawal, U.S. strategists believe, would not only weaken the Kremlin hold on Cuba, but lessen the chance of a U.S.-Soviet clash should the United States decide to move against Cuba in the future.

Prospects of a formal diplomatic accord growing out of the New York negotiations appear nil. Kennedy is opposed to giving the formal no-invasion pledge which Khrushchev wants until there is effective international inspection of Cuba, which the Reds refuse.

United Arab Republic Lifts Ban On Twist

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic has lifted its ban on the twist and twist records.

The government announcement Thursday said "freedom of the arts" is replacing "censorship in the arts."

The government more than a year ago imposed an official ban on the American dance on account of its "demoralizing effect on those who dance it."

3 Stores Warned

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police have warned three more downtown Cincinnati shops to expect court citations if they open Sunday. Patrolmar Harold Freytag said the warnings went to Saxony Imports, Cohen Shoe Store and Hirschman's Department Store.

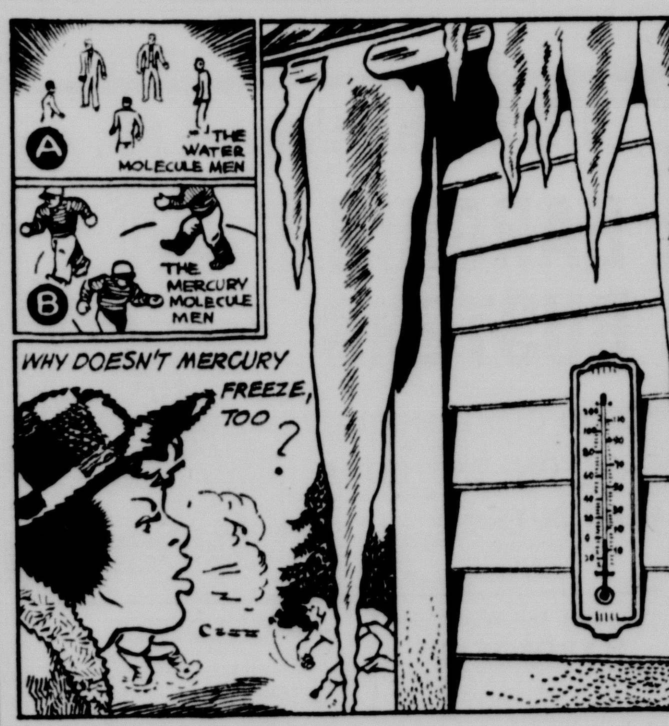
Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE



QUESTION: Why doesn't mercury in a thermometer freeze when it's really cold?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Mercury is a strange substance. It was named for the swift footed messenger of the Greek Gods because, in its liquid form, it moves around so fast. Even when liquid, it is actually a metal. To answer the question we will have to compare the molecules — or extremely minute particles — of which substances have different kinds of molecules. Those of water are much lighter than the ones of mercury. When water is heated, these light molecules increase their movement very rapidly, so that the water boils, or turns into vapor, at 212 degrees. When water is chilled, the water molecules (which we show as molecule men) slow down their movement, also very rapidly. At 32 degrees, they almost stop moving (A) and the water turns into solid ice. By contrast, the heavy molecule men don't change their movements nearly as fast, because their weight gives them a momentum which keeps them going at a steadier pace (B). It takes a temperature of 675 degrees to make mercury boil, and it must be 38 below zero before the stubborn mercury men will slow down enough to freeze.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Mercury is an important element which we use in a number of ways. Check with your science books and see what you find out about mercury.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

On this day in 1941, Japan attacked the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor and also struck at the Philippines, Guam, Hong Kong and Malaya.

On this day:

In 1917, the United States declared war on Austria-Hungary.

Today's birthdays:

Thought for today:

If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces—Shakespeare.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1941, Japan attacked the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor and also struck at the Philippines, Guam, Hong Kong and Malaya.

On this day:

In 1917, the United States declared war on Austria-Hungary.

In 1944, the U.S. announced the sinking of all six Japanese aircraft carriers which participated in the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Today's birthdays:

Thought for today:

If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces—Shakespeare.

Attention Turned To Sports

'Day Of Infamy' Marked Quietly At Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —The "Day of Infamy" was marked quietly and without ceremony today while the Navy at Pearl Harbor turned its attention to sports.

On Ford Island, less than a mile from the black-scarred coast where the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941, was centered, a nine-hole golf course was dedicated. A boxing program at Bloch Gymnasium, across the water from the sunken hulk of the USS Arizona, featured five amateur Japanese fighters.

There was no official recognition of the 21st anniversary of the darkest moment in U.S. naval history.

A small boat shuttled between the shore and the memorial, as it has done daily since last Memorial Day when the shrine was completed. A Navy official said larger-than-usual crowds were expected to make the trip. Otherwise activity in the busy harbor was normal.

Veterans groups, other patriotic organizations and individuals planned to take flowers to honor the 1,102 men entombed in the Arizona.

Although it has done so in other years, the Navy scheduled no speeches or ceremonies above the battleship. A new policy of the Navy Department specifies that tributes to the dead of battle may be held only on Memorial Day.

The American Flag was raised over the Arizona at dawn—a daily ritual. The Arizona is considered still in commission by the Navy because her crew is aboard. Giant aircraft carriers, nuclear submarines and other modern warships pipe a salute as they move by her "berth."

The Arizona Memorial honors all dead of the Japanese attack. A total of 2,403 men perished in the terrible moments of a Sunday morning that marked America's entry into World War II. The Arizona died eight minutes after taking a bomb down her stack.

The first United States mint was established in Philadelphia in 1792.

GERMANS INSPECT DREDGE. Representatives of the West German crushed stone, sand and gravel industry examine the bucket ladder on one of the largest sand and gravel dredges on the inland waterways, owned by the Dravo Corp., as it operated in the Ohio River near Congo Wednesday. The German businessmen are touring United States sand and gravel production facilities, sponsored by the Trade and Industry Tours Association. They were guests of Dravo Wednesday. Left to right are Heinrich Chupin, Horst Weber, Guenter Pott, Kurt Petzold, Werner Orth, and William Price, engineering manager of Dravo's Keystone Division.
